PREFACE

This paper is a historical perspective of the evolution of the domestic terrorist group known as the May 19th Communist Organization, also known as the Weather Underground faction of the Students for a Democratic Society, from its' formation in 1962 to 1987.

The author, at the time of this presentation, is a New York City Police Sergeant with 22 years, of 24 years, experience in field commands. Starting within days of his first field assignment, (May, 1964), he has policed most of the major demonstrations, protests, sit-ins, civil disorders, and riots in the "Big Apple". He became interested in radical activities, and by 1968 started a private library on the subject.

In 1976, besides his other duties, he was assigned the additional responsibilities of "Intelligence Officer" of the "North Park Slope Precinct", at a time when most Vietnam era terrorist groups were running out of steam. Living amongst the "Yuppies," who were "gentrifying" this largest "brownstone" neighborhood in the United States were the hard-core remnants of the Weather Underground. As they reorganized under the banner of the "Moncada Library" and the "May 19th Communist Organization", Police Officer Wilson observed and recorded their activities and eventually became the nations' leading expert on them until the newly formed F.B.I.-New York City Police Department "Joint Terrorist Task Force" uncovered and digested thousands of pounds of detailed records from "safehouses" raided after the Oct. 20, 1981 "Brinks-Nanuet-Nyack Shootout." Officer Wilson continued gathering useful information from the grass-roots level until his promotion, to the rank of Sergeant, and subsequent change of assignment, in September, 1983.

This paper was written as a result of the authors' lack of success in finding an inclusive work that concentrates on the terrible damage that this terrorist vanguard group accomplished over twenty-five years.

To help the reader stay focused on the evolving May 19th Communist Organization, the author broke down the text, that would read similar to a litany of connected bombings, shootings and conflicts, into two parts:

1. The Primary Text, on the recto pages contains the narrative and is centered on certain historical and pivotal events.
2. The Ancillary Text, which is called the Terrorist Chronology, is located on the verso pages, and concentrates on the activities of an individual group or person during a particular year, and uses other well known events as a frame of reference.

To further help the reader visualize the text, and more fully comprehend the nature of the terrorists, the author drew up charts and reproduced photos and, most difficult of all, selected a number of terrorist pamphlets from a file of hundreds, and placed them also on the verso pages as close to the appropriate subject matter as possible. Most dates have been omitted in this paper due to the fact that many reporting agencies omitted or couldn't determine exact dates of occurrences, and much of the bibliographic sources, when dealing with a series of events concentrated on "who, what and why" more heavily than "when." To compensate for the omissions, the author painstakingly listed the events in as accurate chronological order as possible.

Since the author was the "source" of the original background information on the May 19th C.O. during the period of 1978 through 1981 he could only rely upon developing his own cross-indexed files and, using many other media and personal sources besides the "Bibliography" (which forms part of his private library). What the reader sees in this paper is the result of thousands of patient hours gathering, coalating, and analyzing those bits of information.

Lastly, in a few places the reader may come across what appears to be a sarcastic or at least unprofessional remark. References such as to those of the lesbian take-over of the Weathermen or Herbert Doughtry's sudden conversion and buying a roman-collar are the conclusions of experts or investigators who were intimately familiar with the individuals.

THE EVOLUTION OF A MODERN DOMESTIC TERRORIST GROUP

I. Conditions Leading To The Formation Of Socialist Groups

On the evening of October 20, 1981, people all over the United States switched on their T.V.'s to the sobering news that two police officers and a Brinks guard were mowed down by automatic gunfire during a daring attempted armored truck robbery in a sleepy little community called Nanuet, New York, across the Hudson River, and only minutes from New York City. Arrested immediately after the multiple shooting were Kathy Boudin, Judith Clark, David Gilbert, and Samuel Brown. Safehouse locations were uncovered, search warrants obtained, and more and more information was being uncovered as a number of safehouses were giving up their secrets. Assassination lists, police stationhouse floor plans, plans for other robberies, explosives caches, and the names of some of these urban guerrillas were announced, and these names and groups were chilling: Nat Burns of the Black Panthers, Eve Rosahn of the Prairie Fire Organizing Committee, Anthony LaBorde of the Black Liberation Army and killer of N.Y. Police Officer John Scarangella, Bernardine Dohrn of the S.D.S. and the Weather Underground, Cecil Ferguson of the Republic of New Africa, and Dr. Alan Berkman of an organization known as the May 19th Communist Organization. Hastily formed teams of New York City, Rockland, Westchester, and West New York, New Jersey Police along with the Federal Bureau of Investigation were raiding locations, tailing autos, uncovering more ordnance, had a shootout killing Samuel Smith, and compiled a list of those implicated that passed forty individuals who took up to 24 months to plan and execute. Four recent successful armored truck robberies were also uncovered.

R.A.M., S.D.S., R.N.A., W.U., May 19th C.O., Prairie Fire, F.A.L.N., and Moncada Library became an identifiable lexicon for the next two years of manhunts and raucous expensive trials that bankrupted the town treasury of little Nanuet, and gave sounding-boards for communist lawyers Leonard Boudin, Kathy's father, and William Kunstler. But where did the most successful of these groups, the May 19th Communist Organization come from, and how and why did it and it's predecessors exist for twenty-five years and lastly, what could we expect of it in the future?

The impact of the Industrial Revolution was felt on both sides of the Atlantic Ocean during the 1830s. The tremendous increase of production of goods was supposed to increase the quality of life of everyone, but it fell short. Overcrowding of cities, unsanitary housing, low pay, long monotonous hours in accident prone and health threatening environments increased while a multitude of entrepreneurs, who coordinated production and profits and the use of local craftsmen and natural resources, were dying out. Capitalists replaced them and were capable of concentrating the vast profits generated by tens of thousands of workers into small groups of powerful people. America was still expanding in territory, natural resources and a spirit of freedom and adventure by immigrants who knew European privations, so the abuses of industrialization seemed less pronounced. Europe, however, had moguls with the traditions of monarchy, surfdom, emperors, autocrats, and castes. The commoner or peasant was harshly treated, and many suffered immeasurably. Having no experience with the American form of individual rights, justice and freedom in the European industrial cities seemed to point towards socialism. Philosophers and social scientists were on the increase and people such as Karl Marx and Frederick Engles and Fabian Socialists from England began to develop good sounding political cures for the ills of the masses. The wealthy became more wealthy and begat still more wealthy children, and more than a few of these "silver spoons" developed feelings of guilt, having not worked for the wealth in the first place.

They toyed with philanthropy and social justice issues and were receptive to "European Democracy", also known as socialism.

II From Fabian To Militant Socialists - The Students For A Democratic Society

1905 was a memorable year for socialists. In Russia the peasants and socialists unsuccessfully stormed the "Winter Palace" in St. Petersburg. In America, the American Federation of Labor, which accepted the capitalist system, was formed. The Industrial Workers of the World (I.W.W.), A.K.A. the "Wobblies", formed and advocated only one main industrial union that overthrows the capitalist system to set up a socialist government. Also formed was the Intercollegiate Socialist Society, (I.S.S.), by some of the American Fabian Socialists of the day; Jack London, Upton Sinclair, Clarence Darrow and Walter Lippman. This labor oriented socialist organization changed its name to the League for Industrial Democracy, (L.I.D.), in 1921, with its student auxiliary, the Student League for Industrial Democracy (S.L.I.D.). Students for a Democratic Society (S.D.S.), developed from a reorganization of the (S.L.I.D.) which included a name change in 1959, under the impetus of student interest in the rising civil rights movement. From the start, (S.D.S./S.L.I.D.), had a close relationship with the militant civil rights groups, and participated in the founding conference of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, (S.N.C.C.) in 1960, and the Congress of Racial Equality (C.O.R.E.), whose leader at the time, James Farmer, had been a (S.L.I.D.) national secretary during the 1950s.¹

III HAYDEN'S "PORT HURON STATEMENT", 1962 TO THE WEATHERMAN'S
"DAYS-OF-RAGE", OCT., 1969

For two years the (S.D.S.) maintained a total following of approximately 200 until its' leadership changed. In early 1962 the (S.D.S.) national executive committee asked its field secretary from the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, to draft a statement of the relevance of the (S.D.S.) to the new tide of student activism. With philosophical input, plus votes, the Maoist Progressive Labor Party (P.L.P.) assisted with Tom Hayden's militant "Port Huron Statement", which called for an alliance of blacks, students, peace groups and liberal organizations and publications to serve the announced objective of the progressive realignment of the Democratic Party. The Ann Arbor convention which elected him president paved the way for the subsequent growth in militancy and membership (1000-end of 1962 to 40,000 in 250 chapters at its height in 1969). Early on the (S.D.S.) associated itself with the "legal bulwark of the Communist Party - U.S.A." (C.P.), the National Lawyers Guild (N.L.G.) due to the group's increasing illegal actions and coordinated with (N.L.G.) activists Arthur Kinoy, Benjamin Smith, and William Kunstler. Another firebrand, Bernardine Dohrn, was hired in 1967 as a (N.L.G.) student organizer, and within a year joined the vanguard of the (S.D.S.). Within a short time the (S.D.S.) abandoned liberal-reform political action for Marxist-Leninist agitation. Attracted to Mario Savio's "Free Speech Movement" at the University of California, Berkeley, the (S.D.S.) moved into the anti-war, anti-imperialist activist leadership and began cooperating with such revolutionary organizations as the Communist Party's W.E.B. Du Bois Clubs, the Maoist Progressive Labor Party, and the Trotskyist youth groups, the Young Socialist Alliance and the Youth Against War and Fascism. The (S.D.S.) then dropped its constitutional provision barring Communists from membership, and thus lost its funding from its parent organization, the League for Industrial Democracy.

1963 through 1967 found the (S.D.S.) developing leadership, expanding membership, developing revolutionary positions on all topics, practicing oratory at speaking engagements and on leftist radio and television, organizing campus and street actions and demonstrations, developing intelligence and counter-intelligence skills, formed the "Movement for a Democratic Society" (M.D.S.), a large support group made up of trustworthy graduates and professionals who, although not active, could be relied upon to lend assistance in times of need, and developed cooperation and Old-Boy networks with other groups and individuals. Almost all the leadership traveled to Cuba, P.L.O. training camps in various Arab countries, North Vietnam, or North Korea for urban guerrilla training and injections of ideological doctrine. For instance; Nicholas Egleson, Linda Evans, Rennie Davis, and Norman Frutcher had just reached Hanoi, while Jeff Jones, Cathy Wilkerson and Steve Hallivell were unable to complete their trip because of U.S. air attacks. Around the same time Mark Rudd led a group of 20 (S.D.S.) members on a three week stay in Cuba shortly before he led the Columbia University (S.D.S.) chapter in its riotous takeover.² With five years practice in college and street protests, two successful Washington, D.C. marches, and all the logistical support necessary for urban-guerrilla actions in place, the (S.D.S.) was ready to take on the Chicago police during the October, 1968 Democratic National Convention.

During these years from 1963 through 1968, besides this all white, self described "persons of position", upper-class vanguard organization, future black and hispanic allies were forming their own groups. Before proceeding with the birth of the "Weatherman" organization from the mother (S.D.S.) a description of these allies would be helpful.

THE BLACK GROUPS

REVOLUTIONARY ACTION MOVEMENT (R.A.M.) was a black Maoist Marxist-Leninist organization dedicated to the overthrow of the capitalist system in the U.S. by violence if necessary. It was organized in 1959 by Max Stanford who also helped form the Black Panther Party in New York City in 1967. Robert F. Williams, Chairman in Exile, was at that time a commentator for Havana's "Radio Free Dixie", and a leader in the "Fair Play for Cuba Committee."

Black extremist, Robert Collier's participation with the Quebec National Liberation Front and the Progressive Labor Party (PLP) in the attempt to blow up the Statue of Liberty and other monuments, in 1965 brought enough pressure on RAM to stifle its growth, however, its disciplined ideologies gave crucial support and linkage to the newer groups.

(R.A.M.)'s last big action occurred in June 1967 when Herman Ferguson, an assistant principal in a New York City public school, and 15 other members were arrested for a plot to assassinate moderate civil rights leaders Roy Wilkins of the N.A.A.C.P. and Whitney Young of the Urban League.

REPUBLIC OF NEW AFRICA (RNA) was formed in 1968 by members of the "Malcolm X Society", (M.X.S.), and developed para-military units; the first-line "Black Legion", backed by the "Junior Legion" of the youth, and the "Ready Reserves" women. Its' goal was to establish a separate black socialist republic consisting of the states of Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana, Georgia and South Carolina.

Its top leadership reads like a "Who's Who" of black extremism:
 President (in exile in Tanzania) - Robert F. Williams (R.A.M.)
 Minister of Defense - H. Rap Brown
 First Vice President -Milton Henry (M.X.S.)
 Minister of information - Richard Henry (M.X.S.)

PIGS PLOTTED MURDERS OF L.A. PANTHERS

Why was there a planned attack waged against the Black residents of Watts by the pig police department? Our brothers were murdered, our women and children were viciously, shamelessly, and unmercifully assaulted and beaten by this army of pigs. Those of us who are residents of Watts or for that matter residents of any Black community know that harassment and brutality by the pig is a daily routine. So it is only reasonable logic to conclude that the bosses of the pigs had a definite, significant motive for waging this attack. It is not just to satisfy the cowardly pig's lust and desire to spill the Blackman's blood; this he does and without terms would feed them while they in return would give their labor. This lie was told so convincingly that even the Pope in Rome gave all of God's blessing. The policy makers found the false propaganda to be a most effective method of keeping opposition to a minimum. Ever since the so-called emancipation of policy makers continued to use this brainwashing method to justify their treatment of Black people. This was done through an educational system that subtly taught white supremacy and by always portraying Black people as inferior. This brings us back to the reason why these trend of attacks are taking place throughout the entire country. It is the injustice for Black and Brown people and the unjust war against the Vietnamese people. (3) They create a political appetite in the minds of white people that fashions their thinking to be more conducive for a false campaign of repression of Black and Brown people. So now we hear campaign slogans of "Law and Order" and "Support your local pigs." Let me warn you that Hitler had similar slogans when he intended to exterminate the Jews. Today we are not merely resisting racism and exploitation. We are not merely resisting brutality and murder, but we are resisting genocide. A systematic

WATTS FESTIVAL REVOLT

The pig department of Los Angeles is still continuing its genocidal attempt in the Black community of Watts.

With no provocation the pigs invaded the Watts Summer Festival and killed three Black people who were trying to make their environment more tolerable. The pigs undoubtedly would have killed a larger number of Black people if Black freedom fighters had not arrived to stop the ravaging pigs. As soon as the pigs saw the freedom fighters they retreated to the sanctuary of Central Pig Pen (headquarters) in hopes of escaping the retribution due them. Their

BLACK PANTHERS (B.P.) AND THE BLACK LIBERATION ARMY (B.L.A.)

The Black Panther Party was founded in 1966 in California by a street-wise gang of young black extortionists that included Huey Newton and Bobby Seale, and joined in 1967 by Eldridge Cleaver. This macho Maoist hate group had difficulty controlling its own membership due to differing interpretations of the philosophy of Mao-Tse-tung as expressed in the "Little Red Book of the Quotations of Chairman Mao Tse-tung", and personal power struggles. This group intimidated blacks and whites alike with their strutting or military style marching around in their all-black clothes topped off by Beret, turtle-necked sweater and belted leather jacket. When interviewed they posed for the camera and made provocative statements laced with the cliches of the militant left. They drew a following of macho young blacks and the "radical chic" jet set such as Leonard Bernstein and Jane Fonda, who sponsored cocktail-party fund raisers for their bail.

After their early efforts to establish "free lunch" programs were exposed as extortion schemes and recruitment devices, the Black Panthers started their program of ambushing the policemen of the cities that they operated from and supported other similar groups in attempts at small scale insurrections. The list of members of the R.N.A., R.A.M., S.N.C.C., B.P.P. and B.L.A. became interchangeable except when personality conflicts developed, such as the bloody war and torture-executions that resulted from the split between the New York Eldridge Cleaver faction, later known as the Black Liberation Army, and the original west coast Huey Newton, Black Panther Party.

The list of incidents that you see on the "Terrorist Chronology" ³ pages represent less than 1% of the criminal incidents caused by these groups and even this list appears redundant as you read on. Think of living through a whole generation starting in 1962, and reading the newspapers and magazines and listening to radio and television news or talk programs and daily trying to keep track of the individual crimes and events without becoming confused and demoralized. Bombings of public buildings, department stores and corporate headquarters with innocent people often injured and sometimes killed; bomb threats interrupting business and school classes and causing traffic tie-ups; aggressive foul-mouthed marchers and demonstrators assaulting our sensibilities with their "street theater"; our closest wall of defense and emergency assistance, the local police officer, caught in a state of siege. In New York City alone premeditated B.P. - B.L.A. ambushers not only cut down police officers but mutilated their bodies if they had the few extra seconds to reload and empty their 14 shot "Big Nines" Browning 9 millimeter automatic pistols into the dying or dead officer. ⁴

Many of the later B.L.A. members were hardened psychopathic radicalized prisoners from top security prisons such as Attica, in New York State. These suicidal triggermen were needed by the May 19th Communist Organization for their ferocity and instincts during the actual commission of an "expropriation", but once caught and facing the long sentences that violent recidivists expect, some of the B.P./B.L.A. lost their principles and became pragmatic. Their information helped the F.B.I. and police unravel the intricate and

ARMED FORCES FOR NATIONAL LIBERATION OF PUERTO RICO The F.A.L.N. was organized by Fileberto Inocencio Ojeda Rios, a Puerto Rican agent of Cuban intelligence, which is called the General Intelligence Directorate (D.G.I.). In 1967, Ojeda founded the first of Puerto Rico's new terrorist groups, the Independent Armed Revolutionary Movement (M.I.R.A.), whose members received training and arms in Cuba. After a series of bombings in Puerto Rico, the police broke up M.I.R.A. and Ojeda was arrested. Jumping bail, he headed to New York and was assigned to the D.G.I. station there operating under cover at the Cuban Mission to the United Nations, and organized the (F.A.L.N.) in 1974 with remnants of the old MIRA group, and trained the F.A.L.N.'s first cadres in handling explosives and urban guerrilla tactics.⁵

Others recruited belonged to the "Young Lords", the "Machetteros" and more recently the "National Liberation Movement" (M.L.N.). Two other Cubans listed as "political counselors" to the Mission were in fact D.G.I. officers. One was Mario Monzon, who heads the D.G.I. in the United States and the other was Alfredo Garcia Almeida, who ran the Americas Department in the United States. Monzon, by the way, answered not only to the (D.G.I.) chief in Havana but also to the Soviet (K.G.B.) station chief in New York City.⁶ Ojeda designed an organization that is simple and almost impossible to infiltrate. A cell leader runs two, maximum three, members in a cell. Discipline and vigilance is extremely tight and members practice tactics and crafts constantly. The u.s. government's current "anti-terrorist" campaign is a major setback with the release of Eve Rosahn from jail on December 18th. She was held for more than two months on phoney charges of "criminal facilitation" stemming from the attempted expropriation of a Buicks truck in Nyack, NY on October 20th and for refusing to collaborate with the grand jury attacks on the Black liberation struggle and the imperialist movement.

THE (M.L.N.)

 A CALL BY THE MOVIMIENTO DE LIBERACION NACIONAL ***

The Use of the Grand Jury and the New Powers of the FBI

The Reagan administration's new aggressiveness in its use of the federal grand jury against the Puerto Rican independence movement and the amplification of the police powers that violate the most fundamental rights of free expression and free assembly are geared toward justifying a permanent state of political repression that goes beyond the Puerto Rican liberation forces.

The particularity of repressing independentists is obvious, due to the designs of Washington's right-wingers to exploit Puerto Rico's natural and human resources, destroy the patriotic movement and isolate our people's growing sympathy and support for the armed struggle as the natural vehicle for the freedom and social justice.

However, specific political decisions always have a general framework within which they become apparent and are applied. Repression through the use of the federal grand jury and the amplification of the FBI powers to deal with the independence movement, this also becomes a huge threat to political and social protest movements within the United States, such as the leftist movement in general, the anti-nuke, religious, environmentalist, women's and civil-rights groupings, etc. Unless these sectors register a general protest against this repression, regardless of whether the just demands of the Puerto Rican people are of any importance to them, then these forms of repression will be used against them once they are left unchecked in their general use against the Puerto Rican, Mexican, and other national liberation struggles.

The Washington Right-Wingers Draw Nearer to Fascism

The Washington right-wingers are quickly embracing fascism as the U.S. government's new tool in the period between 1933 and 1936. Hitler's Germany made full use of its judicial system to smash the opposition of the Communist Party, Social Democrats, Christian Democrats, Socialists and others within the left. This was Germany's initial stage of organization in preparation for the Second World War. In similar fashion, the Washington militarists and civilian cowboys in power seek to counteract the capitalist sector's worldwide loss of economic control with a warmonger politics that is creating divisions within their very ruling class, and faces growing opposition on behalf of the North American people and a militant response from the oppressed nationalities seeking self-determination. Puerto Rico, an economic and military bastion of great importance in the Caribbean, is destabilized, while its opportunity to throw off the North American imperialists' yoke increases.

But the capitalist right-wingers want to embroil the world in the Third World War. They must consolidate their control over the globe, and thereby the Caribbean. They must also pacify the growing opposition of the oppressed nationalities and their own working class, in order to utilize their enormous destructive arsenal to make good on their threats against socialist, non-aligned and developing countries. The subversion and destabilization of these countries are not enough. Nor is the policy of aggression against Nicaragua and Palestine, nor the undercover intervention in El Salvador. They want to return to unlimited aggression, to landing their Navy on foreign shores, to accomplish their warmonger designs, they must obtain the support of the North American people by any means. This is Washington's current policy.

The Road to Prevention is the Opposition to Repression

If we agree on the current situation then we must begin to pave the way for a general but unified opposition -- to pull in the reins of repression now.

This means resolving to unite forces in a decisive campaign against the grand jury and the new powers of the FBI, to function not only as a criminal investigation agency but as a Gestapo with major political repressive powers that would sicken anyone who believes in the most elemental rights of justice.

It is for these reasons that we make a call to people of conscience everywhere, regardless of whether their social preoccupations be pacifist, religious, leftist, independentist and revolutionary, to stand federal court in New York City on April 8, 1983, at 9 AM and to picket in front of court buildings protesting the repressive use of the federal grand jury against political activists who have criminal sentences of ten years for the same crime of not betraying their conscience, their people and the just struggle for the national liberation of Puerto Rico and the self-determination and reunification of a socialist Mexico.

If we begin our tasks right now, then we would have means to prevent the worst scope of an assault that would well lead us to a Third World War.

wounded 80 and caused tens of millions of dollars of property damage. Through a series of "Communiques" (samples exhibited) the group expressed 5 basic reasons for their bombings:

- a. Commemoration of the October 30, 1950 uprising in Puerto Rico against "Colonial domination".
- b. Release of 5 Puerto Rican political prisoners who attempted the assassination of President Truman, and the attack on the Hall of Congress, wounding 5 U.S. Congressmen.
- c. Murderous policies against workers and peasants.
- d. Robbery and exploitation of Third World countries.
- e. Independence of Puerto Rico from the United States of America.

Five bombings introduced their existence on October 26, 1974. The New York City financial district, Rockefeller Center, Lincoln Center, and Newark, New Jersey's City Hall and Police Headquarters were damaged by high order bombs.

Next, on Dec. 11, 1974, in New York City, Police Officer, Angel Poggi was maimed and blinded by a booby-trapped explosive device after responding to an anonymous call by a female who stated there was a dead body in an abandoned building.

On Jan. 24, 1975, the (F.A.L.N.) struck their most vicious blow by bombing the historic Fraunces Tavern, in New York's financial district, killing 4 persons and injuring 54.

- In 1975, a multiple bombing, Chicago.

October 27, 1975 - 10 bombs hit N.Y.C., Chicago and Washington, D.C.

CHICANOS WIN!

Several hundred supporters turned out at the U.S. Courthouse on July 11th to protest the harassment of the four Chicanos who were subpoenaed before the Federal Grand Jury. The four Chicanos, Frieda Bugarin, Lee Teran, Rita Montero, Guadalupe Granado were scheduled to appear at 8:30 a.m. to be interrogated by U.S. Asst. Attorney Terry Wiggins. A subpoena for Patricia Alcantar was dropped after attorneys for her introduced affidavits from doctors stating that to appear before the grand jury would put her in danger of added stress that could lead to physical harm. Mrs. Alcantar is pregnant and suffers from epilepsy.

At 8:30 a.m. dozens of demonstrators were already waiting for the proceedings to begin. Also waiting were over 50 U.S. marshals, FBI agents, security guards from the Post Office, from the Customs House, and the U.S. Courthouse complex and dozens of Denver police including undercover men and members of the specially trained Street Crime Attack Team (S.C.A.T.) and the Special Services Unit (S.S.U.).

The hearings on the motions were open to the public and over 100 people jammed the courtroom while hundreds more demonstrated and chanted outside. Anyone entering the building had to be searched (women included) and escorted back and forth by armed U.S. marshals, but this show of force didn't frighten the Chicano community. Agents with telephoto lens took pictures from roofs and windows in surrounding buildings.

The hearings were stopped at 4:30 p.m. when the judge and attorneys decided to amend the restraining order motion. At that time Juan Espinoza of Boulder had been on the stand testifying about the A.T.F. harassment. BOB JEFFERS DAILY NEWS

shootouts took place in Puebla.

Handless FALN bomb maker William Morales, the object of a four-year international manhunt, was seized in a bloody gun battle near Mexico City, authorities reported yesterday.

Mexican cops said that they also fought off bushwhackers who tried to free Morales as he was taken to jail, and that they later killed a woman who fired at cops from inside an FALN hideout.

Two Mexican police officers were injured—one critically—and two of Morales' accomplices were killed in the brief but bloody gunfights late Thursday in the town of Puebla, about 75 miles southeast of Mexico City.

Later, a woman identified as Patricia Judith Virrio Angulano, 25, was killed when Mexican cops raided an FALN "safe house" she had shared with Morales in the town of Cholula, near Mexico City, according to Interior Ministry spokesman Javier Gutierrez. He said the woman had been tentatively identified as Morales' wife. A 2-year-old boy with her was wounded, and an unidentified 20-year-old man was also killed in the gun battle. Cops said they seized an arsenal of weapons and ammunition.

POLICE SAID Morales may have been in Puebla to bomb a meeting between Mexican and American legislators scheduled for next month. "We speculate that they may have been in Cholula to plan some sort of disturbance for an inter-parliamentary meeting of U.S. and Mexican congressmen in Puebla next month," Gutierrez said. Morales, 33, had been on the run since May 1979, when he made a spectacular escape from the Bellevue Hospital prison ward after losing most of both hands in a Queens bomb factory explosion.

Mexican police speculate he may have been planning a disturbance during a meeting of U.S. and Mexican congressmen next month.

New York City Police Commissioner Robert McGuire and New York FBI boss Lee Laster said Mexican federal cops captured Morales after a brief, gunfight at 5:15 p.m. Thursday in a long-distance telephone office in Puebla. Morales was not injured, but a man with him—identified only as Adelardo Villalpando Contreras—was killed.

"Morales' companion heard the agent (identify himself) and shot at the police," a Mexican police spokesman said. "While he was reloading, they emptied their pistols into him."

McGuire said Mexican police were driving Morales to a police station when a car containing at least two armed men ambushed the police vehicle. One of the men reportedly was killed and the other escaped.

NEW YORK authorities said they would immediately begin extradition proceedings to bring Morales back to New York to resume his 80-year jail term on weapons charges. Members of the joint Police-FBI Terrorist Task Force flew to Mexico last night to aid in the investigation.

Morales also faces charges for the Bellevue escape. Morales was scheduled to be fitted with artificial hands when he escaped by cutting a hole in a metal screen with a smuggled pair of bolt cutters.

Police said he lowered himself 40 feet to the ground with an elastic bandage, where accomplices drove him to freedom.

New York police have long said that Morales was the mastermind and explosives expert of the FALN (Fuerzas Armadas de Liberación Nacional), which has waged a decade-long bombing campaign to press its demand for Puerto Rican independence.

His legend never died

Both a villain & a hero

By STUART MARQUES

He has become a folk hero of sorts in segments of the Latino community over the last four years—this handless bomb maker who boasts that authorities cannot hold him forever.

Some curse him; some toast him. Others spread tall tales about him. There was even an "exclusive" newspaper report two years ago that he had been slain.

But now comes word that William Morales, 33, the brains and fire-power behind the terrorist FALN, has been pulled from the shadows in a hail of bullets to face 89 years in jail for a July 1978 Queens bomb-factory blast that cost him his hands and part of his chin.

Shortly before being sentenced on April 20, 1979, for the bomb-factory explosion, Morales said: "They're not going to hold me forever. No judge is going to hold me forever."

HE FULFILLED his promise a month later. On May 21, 1979, Morales cut a hole in a window screen in the Bellevue Hospital prison ward and—somehow—used elastic bandages to lower himself 40 feet to freedom.

He vanished into the underground, but his name stayed alive in news and police reports.

Dotted line indicates possible escape route of William Morales from Bellevue Hospital.

Authorities launched one of the most intensive searches in history, but the handless bomb maker eluded them.

In four years on the lam, Morales has been linked by police to scores of explosions, terror plots and bomb threats, including many terror blasts in New York City.

In May 1981, he was linked to three bombings—including one that killed a Queens man—and hundreds of bomb threats that kept police scurrying for days.

Shortly afterward, the New York Post reported that Morales had been killed by his supporters who then milked his legend to further the cause of Puerto Rican independence. Police openly scoffed at the report, but it enhanced the legend.

In March 1982, Morales was linked to four explosions that rocked Wall St. and signaled an FALN (which translates armed forces of national liberation) comeback after nearly two years of silence.

Most recently, police tied Morales to the New Year's Eve bombing spree that seriously wounded three police officers. And, they say, he still was active in terror activities right up to the time he was seized.

"We know he wasn't down there as a social worker," Police Commissioner Robert McGuire said.

Defuse FALN bomb plot

Morales' target was U.S.-Mexican talks

By ALBERT DAVILA
With Stuart Marques

Puebla, Mexico—Handless FALN bomb maker William Morales has confessed that he and his terror gang were plotting to blow up a planned meeting between American congressmen and Mexican legislators when he was nabbed in a bloody gunfight, the head of the Mexican Interpol said yesterday.

New York police and FBI officials arrived in Mexico yesterday to try to question Morales about the more than 120 bombs the Puerto Rican terror group has set off since 1974.

Interpol chief Miguel Aldana said police seized documents showing that "everything was ready" for an attack on Mexican and American congressmen. But the meeting, originally scheduled for this weekend, was delayed, first until June 26, and then until July 7.

Officials would not confirm reports that the group also planned to bomb the national soccer finals held in the Puebla stadium yesterday.

Cndr. Juan Manuel Ibarra, director of the Federal Judicial Security Police, said Morales' group also had planned to attack a jail in Ciudad Juarez, across the border from El Paso, Tex., but that police did not know the motive for that plan.

Morales, 33, was captured after a shootout late Thursday here in Puebla, 75 miles south of Mexico City, after the FBI tipped Mexican authorities that Morales would be going to a long-distance telephone center to receive a call from New York.

ALDANA SAID MORALES had been in Mexico for as long as three months. Morales, who was under heavy guard in a Mexico City jail last night, is expected to fight extradition to New York to resume his 89-year prison term for a 1978 Queens bomb factory explosion that cost him much of his hands and part of his chin.

Fellow cops aid Police Officer Rocco Pascarella, whose foot was blown off last New Year's Eve in a blast outside Police Headquarters.

According to one report, Morales, 33, was captured in a shootout in the telephone office and his bodyguard, Adelado Villafranco Contreras, 48, was killed when he opened fire on police with a 9-mm. handgun.

Police driving Morales to jail were ambushed by two men in a car. One of the attackers was killed and two officers were injured.

Morales' girlfriend, identified by Mexican police as Patricia Judith Virrio Angulano, 25, was killed in a two-hour shootout early Friday at the house police said she shared with Morales in the nearby town of Cholula.

Police said people in the house opened fire at them with machine guns and automatic weapons. Witnesses said police repeatedly called on the occupants of the house to surrender. A Mexican youth, Antonio Perez Ruiz, 16, of Vera Cruz, was wounded as he ran from the house when a tear gas grenade fired into the building started a small fire. He was reportedly carrying a .22-caliber automatic pistol.

NEIGHBORS SAID the house had been rented for a two-month period, expiring June 6. They said the woman, and the teenager had lived in the house for about two months, along with a man in his 40s, who they did not believe was Morales. Witnesses to the gun battle said police brought Morales to the house before the shootout.

Police said they found a cache of weapons and explosives in an FALN hideout, and reportedly arrested another Puerto Rican man Friday night in Puebla. Police think two or three FALN members escaped, and border patrols were beefed up to try to catch them should they try to cross into the United States.

Mexican police think the FALN—Fuerzas Armadas Liberacion Nacional, or Armed Forces of National Liberation—was active in Mexico in the last several years. Authorities believe FALN members planted a bomb in Juarez four years ago that killed four Mexican agents and two FBI agents.

New York cops are anxious to question Morales about the more than 120 bombs that have ripped government buildings, police stations, utility offices and restaurants in New York since the FALN surfaced in 1974.

THE MOST NOTORIOUS blast was in 1975, when a bomb tore through Fraunces Tavern in lower Manhattan, killing four people and injuring more than 50. The group also has been linked to an Aug. 4, 1977, blast at Mobil Oil Corp. headquarters on E. 42d St., in which one man was killed.

The wave of bombings culminated in July 1978, when a blast tore through an apartment at 28-49 90th St. in East Elmhurst, Queens. That bomb factory blast injured Morales and led to his initial capture. The FALN was relatively quiet for a couple of years after that, being linked to only a few explosions.

FBI officials say the FALN came back with a vengeance on Feb. 23, 1982, when it claimed responsibility for four explosions on Wall St. in a single night. More recently, the group claimed responsibility for the bombings last New Year's Eve that maimed three police officers.

Hiding in the crowd

They drew no notice in town of strangers

By ALBERT DAVILA
With Stephen McFarland

Cholula, Mexico—William Morales appears to have chosen this ancient Mexican city as the location for a safe house because it is a place where strangers—even strangers as physically distinctive as himself—can come and go without exciting much interest.

The green stucco house at the end of a dirt road, where Morales' girlfriend, Patricia Judith Virrio Angulano, made her last stand against the blazing guns of 50 Mexican policemen proved anything but safe, but for Cholula her anonymity remains intact.

Her bullet-riddled body lay unclaimed yesterday on a stone table in the primitive morgue of Cholula. Only curious children and the abundant flies from a nearby dump were in evidence at the unkempt stucco building in a corner of La Magdalen cemetery.

Cholula, now a city of 15,000, was a center of Mesoamerican culture a thousand years and more before the Spanish conquest of Mexico. It has become a tourist center because of its ruins, a mecca for religious pilgrims because of its many churches and a magnet for disaffected youth because of the nearby Universidad de las Americas.

THE UNIVERSITY, which has an international reputation for academic excellence, draws students from all over the world. It also has a reputation for nurturing left-wing political theories—even violent ones—and it is believed the Morales group may have made contacts there for assistance.

Between tourists, pilgrims, students and hangers-on, Cholula is a place where strange faces are neither unusual nor much noted. Even Proilan Blanca Ramirez, the man who rented the house to the FALN members, said with a shrug, "I didn't know them very well. They just paid me the rent. That was all."

The house itself, its soft stucco walls pocked with hundreds of bullet holes from the shootout, retained few other traces of its brief tenure as a sanctuary for revolutionaries from north of the border. An English-language calendar depicting a springtime New England scene and a map of Mexico, scattered clothing and a plastic bust of Vicente Guerrero, a hero of the Mexican struggle for independence, were the only signs of habitation remaining yesterday.

Ruben Velazquez, a Coca-Cola employee who lives next door with his wife and four children, said the tenants of the house—Angulano, 18-year-old Antonio Perez Ruiz and a man—not Morales—in his late 40s—had kept to themselves but had not been unfriendly.

"They said, 'Good morning' and 'Good evening,'" he said. That was about all. He had noticed they had foreign accents but could not place them. He said he had noticed a handless man until after the police raid at the house.

He said he heard the shots early Friday and also heard repeated calls by the police for the people in the house to come out, but he had not looked out until the shooting stopped.

In keeping with fugitives' practice of constant movement, the terrorists had rented the house from Ramirez for just 60 days and were scheduled to depart June 6, he said. Events proved that lease, too long.

- June 7, 1976 4 bombs in Chicago

- Sept. 21, 1976 a bomb greeted Rafael Hernandez Colon, the Governor of Puerto Rico, at the New York Hilton Hotel during a pre-election banquet.

Although valuable information was uncovered on Nov. 3, 1976, when a (F.A.L.N.) bomb factory containing a large amount of traceable dynamite was discovered in Chicago, the (F.A.L.N.) continued a rapid succession of bombings through 1978. Department stores, the Department of Defense building and Puerto Rican connected corporate headquarters took the brunt of the campaign. With the indictments and eventual arrests of Carlos Alberto Torres, Oscar Lopez and Ida Luz Rodriguez and the uncovering of a connection between the Episcopal Church National Commission on Hispanic Affairs at Riverside Church, New York City, and the (F.A.L.N.), a New York Federal Grand Jury subpoenaed Maria Cueto, and Raisa Nemikin and held them and Pedro Archuleta, Andres, Julio and Luis Rasado in Contempt of Court. Chicago held Roberto Caldero, Jose and Juan Lopez in Contempt and Myrna Salgado, and Moises Morales, a leader of the La Raza Unida Party of Albuquerque, New Mexico, were also subpoenaed. Paul Moore, the Episcopal Bishop of New York, refused to allow the Commission records to be handed over to the Grand Jury, and the above individuals were released at the expiration of the Grand Jury in May 1978. Lawyers on this case were Margaret Ratner, wife of communist attorney William Kunstler, Elizabeth Fink, and Susan Tipograph (all of whom represent the May 19th C.O.).

William Morales made only one mistake while assembling a bomb one afternoon in Queens, N.Y. and blew up his apartment and blew off most of both his hands. After the best of reconstructive surgery, by dedicated doctors, and the relative freedom of the Bellevue Hospital prison ward, and some suspect, sympathetic corrections officers, Morales escaped supposedly using his 2 claw-like hand stumps, to lower himself down a bed-sheet rope to the ground, just after a hospital visit by his personal doctor, Dr. Barbara Zeller, (May 19th C.O.), and his lawyer, Susan Tippograph, (May 19th C.O.). He was finally recaptured on May 26, 1983 near his guerrilla training camp, 50 miles south of Mexico City, after a shootout that killed a Mexican police officer. Mexico, up to now, refuses to extradite him to the U.S. Federal authorities, however, at least he is under confinement.

In 1983, with the loss of Morales' expertise, the "turn-around" of (F.A.L.N.) member Alfredo Mendez, other leaders in jail, important records seized, the establishment of the N.Y.C.P.D./F.B.I. "Joint Terrorist Task Force", and the possibility of surveillance and penetration attempts, the (F.A.L.N.) went underground and ceased most of their activities except for some unrevealed assistance to the May 19th Communist Coalition. Since the Nanuet-Brinks Shootout on October 20, 1981, this extremely dangerous group has stayed underground.

The year was 1968. The time had come to fish or cut bait. Five summers of S.D.S. agitation produced five riot seasons. Tom Hayden was an inspiration in Newark, New Jersey: 40 plus were killed, hundreds injured, and hundreds arrested. The police were mauled physically and politically. The National Guard was ridiculed. When a Jersey City policeman resisted firing his gun at a roving mob that backed him down a dead-end alley, then stomped him to death, National Lawyers Guild attorney William Kunstler stated that under the circumstances, when a peoples' grievances forced them to take to the streets, as it had, then the people were justified in killing the policeman. And he got away with it without even having to answer to the New York Bar Association! The courts now belonged to the anarchists.

With 450,000+ troops fighting with crazy restrictions such as --- no pursuit or firing into the French owned rubber plantations that polka-dotted South Vietnam, when the Viet Cong or North Vietnamese soldiers ambushed you then received virtual sanctuary by retreating into the property. For fear of accidentally bombing a rice-paddy dike, B-52 bombers were forced to run a gauntlet of the highest concentration of anti-aircraft guns ever assembled when they were ordered to bomb Hanoi from the same approach, time after time after time. The "Hanoi Hilton" P.O.W. camp filled up with the brave surviving American airmen. Minimum academic standards (the grading system) verses the college deferment to the draft. Fighting in a war where you could get killed or maimed verses sex, drugs and rock-and-roll. If Congress votes to increase social services and new poverty programs, then the military budget has to decrease. The government, therefore authority, doesn't cater to me so burn the flag, burn the draft card. Scream, scream for academic freedom! Peace Now! Civil Rights! Decentralization! Police Brutality! All the issues were red hot. The pre-"Weather" faction of (S.D.S.) calling themselves the Revolutionary Youth Movement I was emerging as "the" faction. Everyone was trained, experienced and chewing at the bit for more action. They helped organize the demonstrators. They made mail-bombs, stockpiled "Easy-Off" spray can oven-cleaner, darning needles, football and motorcycle helmets and 2" x 2" picket sign staffs with numerous 8 penny nails sticking out from the sign end. For four days in August they helped incite and lead tens of thousands of thrill seeking college aged youth descend upon Chicago's 1968 Democratic National Convention. Mobs of a thousand or two were led out of the city parks and converged on the main hotels and convention center in order to stop the proceedings on national T.V. Flying squads expertly roamed the business and shopping districts breaking every window and looted or destroyed the displays. Underground electric cables were blown up and the "Venceremos"

Cuban trained street fighters attacked the police lines blinding officers with caustic "Easy-Off" sprays and struck them with urban nailed maces and threw nail bombs in their midst. Police horses were stabbed deeply with the sharpened steel needles. The Democrats were shakened and intimidated, the damage was way into the millions of dollars, the police took 300 plus casualties and some horses had to be put down. Mayor Dailey was beside himself when he and his police department were accused of perpetrating a "Police Riot".⁸ Footage was presented by the Liberation News Service and even the major T.V. networks edited selected samples of hateful brutality against the "committed" youth. Some of the riot leaders were arrested; self-described communist, Dave Dellinger, Black Panther, Bobby Seale, S.D.S. leader Tom Hayden, John Froines, Rennie Davis, Abbie Hoffman, Jerry Rubin and Lee Weiner. They became known as the "Chicago-7", and a year later, October 8 through 11, 1969, 22 more S.D.S. members, most now known as "Weathermen" were arrested for leading 300 other "Weathermen" in a gun toting violently destructive window-smashing spree while protesting the court action against the "Chicago-7". Those now arrested for the "Days of Rage" became the "Chicago-22". Among the "22" were names that stayed famous through the 1980's; Cathlyn Wilkerson, Judith Clark, Kathy Boudin, Susan Stern, Judith Cohen, Mark Rudd, Linda Sue Evans, Jeffrey Jones, Bernardine Dohrn, William Ayers, and Howard Melish. Other "Weathermen" were arrested for possession of weapons, ammunition and Samurai swords. For a period of 18 months most of the leadership of the "Weathermen" faction of the S.D.S. were arrested at least once in the Chicago, Flint, Cleveland area.

IV Militant (S.D.S.) Conventions Lead to the "Flint War Council"

After the success of the S.D.S., organized "Anti-Vietnam War" march to Washington in the spring of 1965, local S.D.S. chapters increased from 35 to 100+ within a year. A number of conferences were needed to coordinate their effort, establish or re-establish their positions and wrestle to see which faction would direct the organization.

At an S.D.S. national convention at Clear Lake, Iowa, in August 1966, the S.D.S. saw the need for political work on college campuses, and called for a "student power" strategy. In December 1966 they made draft resistance their top priority political activity and began campus protests against the "military industrial complex". At its 1967 national convention in Ann Arbor, Michigan, the S.D.S. made a call for a "new working class", (such as unemployed or underemployed minority women, school drop-outs, the unemployed, students, and radicalized leaders), to be the crucial agency of revolution and deliberately set this concept against the Progressive Labor Party's faction whose emphasis was on its more militant "industrial working class" theory consisting mainly of discontented or under and unemployed blue collar workers.

At Boulder, Colorado, in October of 1968, the S.D.S. National Council, threw out a plan for joint student-labor action projects, sponsored by the Progressive Labor faction. But three months later, at the Ann Arbor National Council meeting, the Progressive Labor faction made a comeback, securing approval of a resolution on racism. At the same time, a resolution presented by a group headed by Mike Klonsky and Les Colemon, and supported by Bill Ayers, Bernardine Dohrn, John Jacobs, Howie Macktinger, Jim Mellen, and Mark Rudd was approved by the Council. Entitled, "Toward a Revolutionary Youth Movement", and known as the R Y M Resolution, this paper brought its backers to a prominence which helped some of them, later, to coalesce and become the Weatherman Organization.

At the March 1969 meeting in Austin, Texas, the S.D.S. National Council threw out the Progressive Labor resolution on racism which had been approved only four months previously, then substituted a S.D.S. alliance with the Black Panther Party. At this conference it became obvious there were serious internal differences within the group which had sponsored and won approval of the R Y M Resolution in December, 1968

In 1968 and 1969, the R Y M I faction of the S.D.S., in the course of its evolution into Weatherman, was actively seeking to recruit underprivileged youth and transform them into "the true revolutionary vanguard". One such Weatherman faction project was the "Niagara Liberation Front" program in Buffalo, New York. Aimed primarily at Puerto Rican background students, the "Niagara Liberation Front Program for Action" was set forth in a 12 page brochure that referred to the United States as "Amerika" and began on its inside page: " We are all outlaws in the eyes of Amerika- all of your private property is a target for your enemy and the enemy is we. We are obscene, low, dirty, dangerous, and angry. In order to survive, we steal, fight, lie, forge, fuck, hide and deal. --- Until capitalism is destroyed, we shall fight against any Amerikan Army, oppose all institutions (like the universities, high schools and corporations) that train men and women to support imperialism. And we shall attempt to bring the international war home by engaging in continual actions that disrupt the business - as - usual fabric of American life." ⁹

At the June 1969 S.D.S. Convention in Chicago, a serious dispute erupted concerning black nationalism. The Maoist Progressive (Labor) Party faction attacked the Black Panthers as more nationalist than revolutionary. Their defenders, the R Y M I then attempted to form an alliance with the Panthers and the Puerto Rican "Young Lords" but the Panthers and Young Lords weren't quite ready for the R Y M I policy of immediate war on the police. At this point, however, all three groups, the R Y M I, the Black Panthers, and the Young Lords, seemed destined to evolve into tougher individual organizations with closer ties among them. For instance, the Young Lords were active in housing and establishing communication centers for the Weatherman (R Y M I) faction during the Oct., 1969 Chicago "Days of Rage".¹⁰ By the end of the June S.D.S. Chicago Convention, the S.D.S. had effectively split into three contending sub organizations:

- The Progressive Labor faction, the most revolutionary Maoist group became known as the "Worker-Student Alliance."
- The Revolutionary Youth Movement II (R Y M II), who tried to "refine" the Weather faction statements for acceptability to the P.L.P. faction, became known as the so-called Labor Committee.
- The Revolutionary Youth Movement I (R Y M I) - each member, a self proclaimed Communist, was a Marxist-Leninist group who leaned towards the Maoist approach to revolution. They presented the famous "Weatherman" statement entitled " You Don't Need a Weatherman to Know Which Way the Wind Blows."

This 16,000 word statement attempts to define the ideology and fix a program for S.D.S. as a white radical youth movement. It accepts:

- Third World guerrillas as leaders of the fight abroad against U.S. imperialism and the U.S. "internal" black colony as leaders here.
- Blacks will organize themselves while white radicals play a supportive and promotional role only.
- The radical youth movement in the U.S. is composed too largely of "privileged" students. Make a maximum organizational effort to build city-wide movements who should regard themselves as active cadres in the formation of a new revolutionary party.

Sponsors of the Weatherman paper were Karin Ashley, Bill Ayers, Bernardine Dohrn, John Jacobs, Jeff Jones, Gerry Long, Howie Machtinger, Jim Mellen, Terry Robins, Mark Rudd and Steve Tappis. "(Our) goal is the destruction of U.S. imperialism and the achievement of a classless state: world communism." ¹¹

This Chicago convention elected three of its Weatherman group (Jeff Jones, Mark Rudd and Bill Ayers) to controlling positions in the national office of S.D.S. The subsequent Oct. 8 - 11, 1969 Chicago "Days of Rage" were an exercise in open urban guerrilla warfare.

The year 1969 exemplified how coordinated the Weatherman faction could be:

- Sponsor and travel to 4 S.D.S. Conventions and wind up controlling the S.D.S.
- Establish close relations with the leading Black and Hispanic terrorist groups.
- Raise an average of $125,000 bail money each time their numerous street actions ended in arrest.
- Form the "Venceremos Brigade", purportedly to cut the sugar-cane harvests in Cuba, and ship hundreds of screened college and "post" college types on each trip.
- Attack the South Vietnamese Embassy in Washington, D.C.

- Lend direction to hundreds of school disorders.
- Finally, the Weatherman faction convened the "Flint War Council" in Flint Michigan from Dec. 27-31, 1969. Attracting approximately 550 members, the stated purpose was to declare war on the nations' police and the U.S. government and corporations for the "revenge for the murders of Chairman Fred Hampton, Mark Clark (Illinois Black Panther Party leaders killed in a pre-dawn District Attorney's raid on December 4, 1969), and of the Vietnamese people." The Chicago Sun-Times added the Weathermen---- "also plan to look into changing things from the troubled Sixties to the violent Seventies." The three major points made by the Weatherman "Flint War Council" were:

- Serious discussion about killing policemen, with the young revolutionaries trying to decide on the best mental attitude to adopt as they move closer to physical violence;
- Abolishing monogamy - a single mate for each person - in favor of living in "collectives" where each person would try to love the others equally; and
- Wiping out male supremacy in the hope of building a society in which both sexes would be equal in everything, including plotting strategy and fighting."

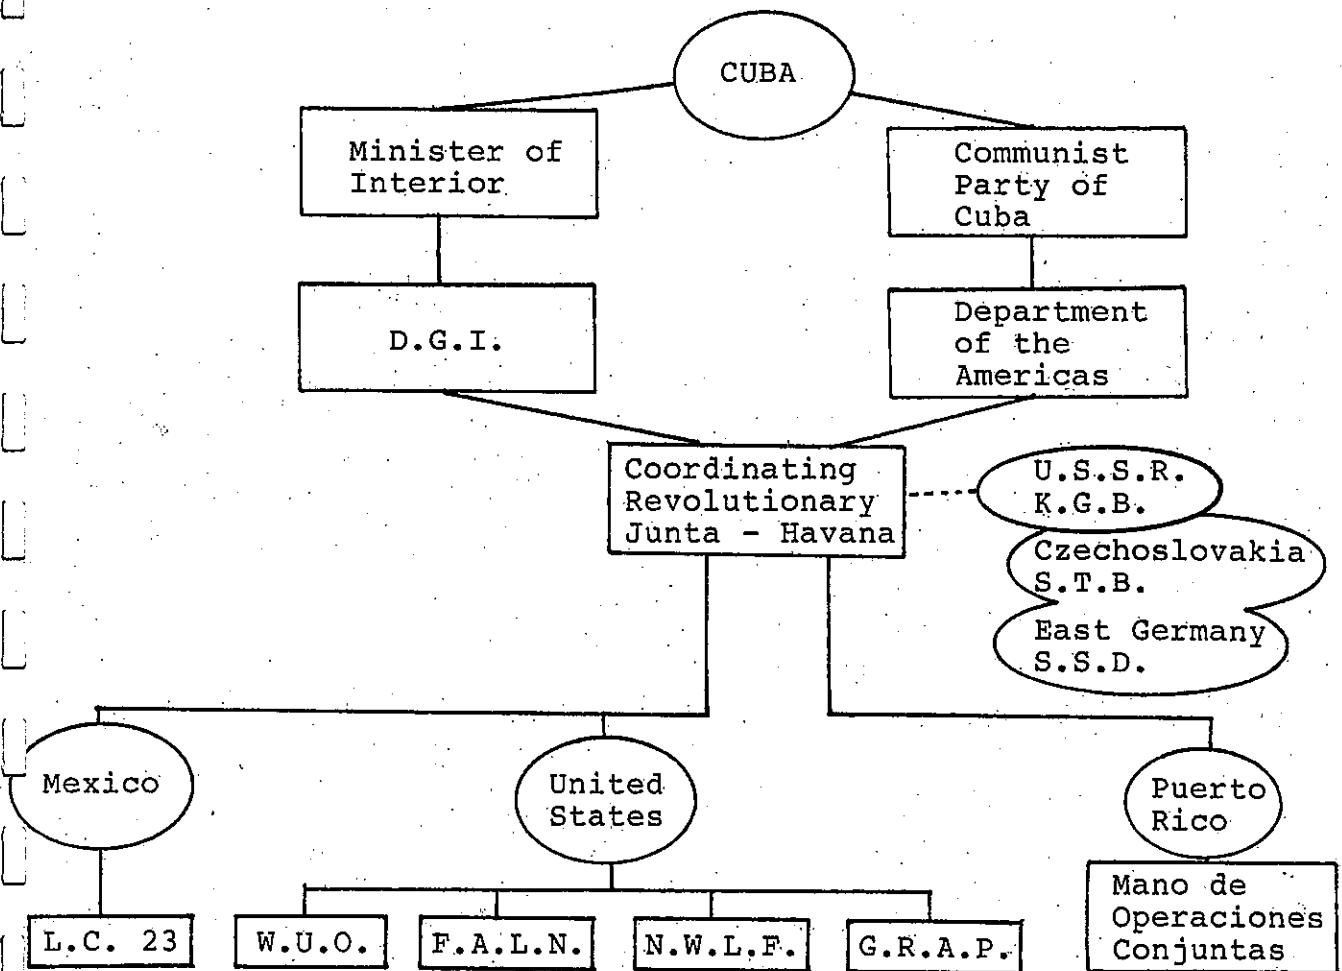

Information developed from a secret "turn-around" informant, Eric, stated that 200 sticks of dynamite, bought in a store by a "man in a priest's suit from a seminary in Brighton, Michigan," was distributed to cars destined for New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Washington and Colorado.

Alerted to the possibility of violence at the "War Council", Flint police observed a man in a priests' suit approach and talk to the occupants of autos that pulled into the yard of the Sacred Heart Parish House. Secret meetings held at the Parish House, as compared to the general meetings at a hired ballroom, were attended by key Weathermen members: Bill Ayers, Bernadine Dohrn, Linda Evans, Eric Mann (S.D.S. National Interim Committee) Howard Machtinger, Mark Rudd, James Mellon and also Dianna Oughton and Theodore Gold, (both blown up in the "Greenwich Village Townhouse" blast a few months later. Theodore Gold was identified by police as one of the drivers of an auto with New York registration plates.¹² Chief James Rutherford of the Flint, Police Department suspected that "Eric" was Eric Mann, fearful of future arrest and prison for the death and damage that 200 sticks of dynamite, was "snitching" out of his criminal culpability.

As the "War Council" ended, Mark Rudd warned, " You can look for pitched battles between militant groups and the pigs on a scale that will make anything in the 1960's look like a Sunday school picnic." ¹³ The Weatherman walked out the doors and went underground. They broke up into secret groups of 10 to 15. They centered in Berkeley, Cleveland, Detroit, and New York City. Other smaller groups sought the collectives and communes similar to those of the flower children, Charlie Manson and the Symbionese Liberation Army.

The Cuban Connection

The law enforcement agencies were uncomfortable. Information over a period of time, from intelligence services, reporters and defectors, mentioned Cuba:

- On January 26, 1969, a letter from Julie Nichamisi and Brian Murphy, written in Havana, and written to Bernardine Dohrn, was found in a vacated Chicago apartment. The letter was headed, "Notes on How People Should be Selected for the Brigade."
- California Congressman Barry Goldwater charged "Fidel Castro's Cuba has become the revolutionary factory for the processing and refining of American radicals for export back to the United States." He pointed out:
- Mark Rudd, Weatherman, visited Cuba in February and March, 1968 with 20 other S.D.S. members, and two months later, with Rudd at the helm, Columbia University was reduced to chaos. ¹⁴

- Dianne Oughton and Ted Gold, Weatherman, attended the same Havana conference with Bernardine Dohrn. Eight months later they were blown to bits while manufacturing bombs at Cathy Wilkerson's parents million dollar "Greenwich Village Townhouse" in New York City.

- Howard Jefferson Melish, Weatherman, and son of identified Communist and defrocked Episcopalian priest, William Howard Melish, of the exclusive Brooklyn Heights St. Anne and the Holy Trinity Parish, shipped off to Cuba with Weatherman, Peter Clapp and Dianne Doughi. Both Melishes are suspected of aiding Angela Davis during her fugitive flight from the "California courtroom shootout." William Howard Melish was Angela Davis' mentor during her school-years and he sent her to the "Little Red Schoolhouse" in Manhattan for a leftist education.

- Bernardine Dohrn, upon return from Havana on September 17, 1969, announced the S.D.S. would actively support the "Venceremos Brigade".

- Radio Havana, in October and November, 1969 broadcast the names and addresses of those people in the United States to write to for information regarding the passage to Cuba. Among those names were Arlene Bergman, Gerald Long, Michael Klonsky and Diane Oughton.

Pictured with Bernardine Dohrn was Luis Cuza, founder and leader of the Young Lords Organization in Chicago. Miss Dohrn's diary is quoted that Van Ba advised the Weatherman: "When you go into a city, look for the person who fights hardest against the cops. That's the one you talk all night with. Don't look for the one who says the best thing. Look for the one who fights."

- Phillip Abbott Luce, a top ranked Progressive Labor Party defector and Venceremos visitor to Havana testified to the F.B.I. that he was directed to and did pick up a package of money from the Cuban Ligation for use by P.L.P. radical activities.

- Stokeley Carmichael, Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (S.N.C.C.), and the Black Panther Party, knocked a New York City Police Officer to the ground and ran, after the officer observed Carmichael exit the Cuban U.N. Mission with a 4 inch money-sized package. Fleeing to Florida and saying he was innocent, the criminal charges against Carmichael were dropped personally by N.Y.C. Mayor Lindsay as being too expensive to have him arrested and extradited back to New York City. Two days later Stokeley walked the streets of New York City.

- Royal Canadian Mounted Police undercover cameras picture underground individuals entering the Cuban Ligation in Ottawa, then talk to a man. The man disappears, then returns with a package, then hands the money-sized package to the individual.

The individual then exits the Ligation, casually looks around, then walks off. The Canadian Broadcasting System televised the above in the television report entitled "The K.G.B. Connections: An Investigation Into Soviet Operations In North America." W.U.O. Larry Grathwohl verifies the above.

- U.S. Senate Judiciary hearings dated Feb. 26, March 4, 11, and 12, 1982 describing "The Role of Cuba in International Terrorism and Subversion," charts the "Weather Underground Organization" along with the "F.A.L.N.", the "New World Liberation Front" (affiliated with the San Francisco Weather organization called "Prairie Fire Organizing Committee" and the G.R.A.P. As shown with the assistance given to the M.I.R.A. and F.A.L.N., the Weather Underground Organization A.K.A. the May 19th Communist Organization is getting the support and cooperation of the D.G.I. of Cuba.

VI The Wilkerson Greenwich Village "Townhouse Explosion"

Within Thirty days of the distribution of the 200 sticks of dynamite and the promise of outright warfare, then the move to go underground, after the "Flint War Council," the Weather Underground bombing campaign started.

On Jan. 18, 1970, Silas "Trim" Bissell and his wife, of the now named "Weather Underground Organization", were arrested on the campus of the University of Washington for planting a dynamite bomb under the steps of the Air Force R.O.T.C. building. Posting a $50,000 bond they were released and went underground. Silas was finally arrested 17 years later in 1987 in Pennsylvania.

On Feb. 13, 1970, two dynamite blasts in a Berkeley, California police station parking lot injured six police officers.

On March 6, 1970 the million dollar 4 storey "Greenwich Village Townhouse" at 18 West 11th Street in New York City exploded like a "blockbuster" and became a pile of broken bricks and splintered smouldering wood. The owner, multi-millionaire John Platt Wilkerson and his wife were sailing in the Caribbean and left the townhouse for his daughter, Cathlyn Wilkerson, to keep safe and entertain her S.D.S. friends. Moments after the explosion, Cathy, clad only in blue jeans, Kathy Boudin, daughter of extreme leftist lawyer Leonard Boudin, completely naked, and three unidentified individuals miraculously escaped the collapsing structure. Three didn't escape. It took 5 days to excavate the ruins, to carefully remove the unstable remains of many more sticks of unexploded dynamite, detonation caps, and other bomb making materials. The Medical Examiner studied the odd pieces of meat, flesh, a tooth, a finger end, some hair and some brain tissue. Finally he identified two of the three victims as Diane Oughton and Ted Gold, both experienced diehard W.U.O., and last seen talking to the "priest" in Flint, Michigan. The third victim was identified years later through deductive investigation.

The April 1, 1970 call to the Chicago police was no joke. In an apartment used by W.U.O. Nickolas Freudenberg, recent of the "Flint War Council" and the "Columbia University Takeover", and wanted for questioning about the "Townhouse " explosion, was 59 sticks of dynamite, bottles of hydrochloric acid and sulfuric acid, two 12 gauge shotguns, a .30 caliber rifle, and a .22 caliber rifle. Police estimated that if the dynamite had exploded, it would have leveled the 50 unit apartment house.

On June 10, 1970, New York City Police Headquarters was bombed and eight persons were injured.

BENEFIT for the MEDICAL CAMPAIGN IN SOLIDARITY WITH THE PALESTINIAN PEOPLE IN STRUGGLE

Sat., June 26 10PM

THE HARDER THEY COME

The daily struggle of the Jamaican people to survive and resist is the theme of THE HARDER THEY COME, the widely acclaimed movie featuring the acting and music of Jimmie Cliff.

The Zionist invasion of Lebanon is an attack on the Palestinian people's struggle for self-determination, nationhood and land and an attempt to destroy the leadership of the Palestine Liberation Organization and the revolutionary Lebanese National Movement. Today the military aggression of the fascist state of Israel, directed by U.S. imperialism, has resulted in the murder, wounding and forced removal of hundreds of thousands of Palestinian and Lebanese people. But the Palestinian struggle will never be destroyed because the people are committed to freedom. This a critical time to concretely build solidarity with the Palestinian people by contributing to this emergency medical campaign and the ability of the Palestinian struggle to resist and inevitably, to win.

On July 28, 1970, the Bank of America in N.Y. City's financial district was bombed.

On Sept. 13, 1970, Timothy Leary scaled a 12 foot fence and escaped from a California prison with the help of Bernardine Dohrn. Within a month he is vacationing in Algiers and working with the Black Panthers.

On October 7, 1970, Bernardine Dohrn, Jeff Jones, and Bill Ayers took credit for the bombing of the statue of a policeman in Chicago's Haymarket Square.

On and on and on----- a California armory and courthouse--- R.O.T.C. facilities at Washington U.----- a New York courthouse--- in one day, 5 blasts in Rochester, 2 blasts in New York City, and 1 in Orlando, Florida.

Then, bomb threats evacuate hospitals in Boston, airports in New York and St. Louis, and a subway station at Harvard Square, Cambridge.

The "Weather Underground" campaign continued through 1972 along with further confrontational marches associated with violence and tremendous vandalism, college disorders associated with violence and vandalism and agitating to promote local civil disorders. ¹⁷

After the bombings of the U.S. Capitol, the Pentagon, the San Francisco office of the Health, Education and Welfare, I.T.T. in New York, the California Department of Corrections offices in Sacramento and San Francisco and two N.Y. poetry from Argentina (South Africa)

On April 18, 1980, sixteen years of people's war against imperialism culminated in the liberation of the Republic of Zimbabwe. It was only through the active participation of the entire Zimbabwean people in all areas of the war under the leadership of ZANU-PP (Zimbabwe African National Union-Patriotic Front) that the victory was won. Women were a key part of this struggle, making up one-third of the guerrilla army. They fully participated in the struggle to defeat imperialism's all out genocidal war against their nation, and through this battle helped to defeat the system responsible for women's oppression world-wide—U.S. imperialism.

Now, as South African and U.S. imperialists attempt to undermine this victory against white settler colonialism through military attack and counter insurgency, the ZANU Women's League is struggling to involve all Zimbabwean women in this critical period to reconstruct a new and liberated Zimbabwe. The National Institute for Women in Zimbabwe is a specific program of the League to provide political education and practical skills, to train women who have been involved in the struggle, and prepare them to set up women's centers throughout Zimbabwe. This is to insure that every Zimbabwean woman will become an equal in the new society.

The Women's Committee Against Genocide and May 19th Communist Organization present this concert as part of the National Campaign in Solidarity with the ZANU Women's League. The National Campaign has taken on the task of raising $15,000 for the National Institute for Women in Zimbabwe. This is a critical time for all anti-imperialists to support Zimbabwe and the leadership of ZANU-PP as the victory is secured, a victory which is a profound defeat for imperialism world-wide. Please join us for a cultural evening of struggle to help build the National Institute and support the ZANU Women's League.

Committee for the Suit Against Government Misconduct, PO Box 254, Stuyvesant Sta., NYC 10009; 212-989-8898

Once again, the Justice Department and FBI have expanded their conspiracy of covering up illegal COINTELPRO activities — their program of false news, assassination at-tempts, brain-wash, wiretaps and mail tampering of political activists. In Clark v. USA, a $100 million civil suit, the Court of Appeals last week granted Nixon a stay, but the stay is only for the purpose of the Court of Appeals to pursue discovery of the documents. In so doing, the Court not only gave Nixon the 'right' to operate above the law, but affirmed that 'right' to any president who could claim to act in the protection of 'national security'. Plaintiffs in Clark v. USA are suing both for damages for over 10 years of illegal surveillance and harassment and also to expose the full breadth and nature of COINTELPRO as an agency-wide program directed by the highest government officials. But Nixon is claiming 'absolute immunity' from prosecution — i.e., that a president should be able to flout the law and order US PROSECUTION — i.e., that a president should be able to flout the law and order US PROSECUTION. WE DEMAND THAT COINTELPRO BE FULLY EXPOSED AND THAT ALL THE WAR CRIMINALS BE TRIED.

Clark plaintiffs are the individuals who were named as the targets of the illegal ac-tivities that ex-FBI Director L. Patrick Gray, one of his top assistants, Patrick Gray and Edward Miller, and the head of NY FBI's Squad 41, John Henry, were named for in 1977 and 1978. But these criminal trials have been delayed for the past year. This week the District Court of D.C. once again postponed the trial for the eighth time. Clearly the government is not interested in the truth, but in the cover-up. The web of COINTELPRO secrecy and prosecution has been so tight that it has prevented the truth from coming out. These kinds of activities have been protecting Felt, Miller and Gray for 2 years! These kinds of activities are part and parcel of a heightening government campaign to consolidate its counter-insurgency apparatus — the re-emergence of special 'anti-terrorist squads' of the passage of fascist laws, the institution of special 'anti-terrorist squads' of FBI agents and NYC police clearly aimed at attacking the Black liberation movement and all progressive activists. These affect not just Clark v. USA, but all other cases as well, particularly the struggle of illegally imprisoned prisoners of war. WE DEMAND THE FBI'S CRIMES BE EXPOSED AND THAT COINTELPRO BE SHUT DOWN. WE DEMAND FREEDOM FOR GERONIMO PRATT, EDWARD MORSE, THE DIA II — fighters for Black libera-tion imprisoned as a result of COINTELPRO attacks.

CHILDREN WELCOME

The Mohawk Nation -- located in what is now upstate New York and southeastern Quebec -- has, like all Native American nations, consistently defined its struggle as one for sovereignty. This film documents the day-to-day realities of the Mohawk Nation's struggle for self-determination -- building a self-reliant economy, preserving traditional values, educating the children. In a period when New York state is sharpening its attacks against the Mohawk Nation, we present this film in solidarity with the Native American struggle.

In response to the armed attacks by New York state troopers against the traditional Mohawk people, the following immediate demands have been issued:

- End the presence of all vigilantes.
- Decrease the number of state troopers.
- New York State, through the office of Lt. Gov. Mario Cuomo, should negotiate with the Mohawk people.

The Mohawk people have asked people to send telegrams in support of these demands to:

Gov. Hugh Carey, State Capitol, Albany, NY

The Moncada Library is an anti-imperialist lending library and community organizing center in Park Slope, Brooklyn. As white anti-imperialists, our program is to support the struggle of the Black Nation for human rights, self-determination, independence, and land, and the liberation struggles of all Third World people, and to fight white supremacy. We have worked for the past two years to build support for the National Black Human Rights Campaign, the Puerto Rican Independence Movement, and the now-victorious freedom fighters of the Zimbabwe African National Union (ZANU); and to organize to stop killer cops, to smash the Ku Klux Klan and all forms of white supremacy. In addition to this film series, we encourage you to visit the library and participate in our other programs: the anti-genocide action committee; the anti-white supremacist program for teenagers; work to build a revolutionary anti-imperialist women's movement; and raising material aid for ZANU; and anti-imperialist lessons.

Prairie Fire

Political Statement of the WEATHER UNDERGROUND

On July 24, the Weather Underground released PRAIRIE FIRE: "THE POLITICS OF REVOLUTIONARY ANTI-IMPERIALISM." This book was printed entirely underground and distributed clandestinely throughout the U.S. to thousands of people's organizations and individuals. PRAIRIE FIRE is an important new contribution in the development of strategy in the people's movement.

This book is concerned with people and the conditions under which we live in the United States and throughout the world. The ideas in PRAIRIE FIRE come from a serious effort to learn from, to interpret and to help advance people's struggles. It is a book that will become another link in the chain of learning, organizing, and acting more effectively. There is no charge for postage and handling. Also, special bulk rates are available to people's organizations and bookstores.

We are taking orders for this new printing of PRAIRIE FIRE, and encourage you to order now. Your advance order will help the agency needed for printing and distribution. The book costs $1.50 (plus 50¢ for postage and handling). On orders of 10 or more copies, there is no charge for postage and handling. Also, special bulk rates are available to people's organizations and bookstores.

Dear Friends

We are a group of people who have come together to reprint and distribute Prairie Fire, the political statement of the Weather Underground, in the Boston Area. We see in Prairie Fire a body of political thinking that can provide a helpful framework for the development of ideological and strategic unity in the left.

One way we hope to contribute to that process is by meeting with activists to discuss the questions raised in the book, the general political situation, and how we all have been or can begin relating to those in the kinds of work we are doing.

We would like to meet with groups to present and discuss the politics of Prairie Fire, to exchange experiences from our work, to help plan study groups using the book, etc. Because our own energies are limited, and because many people we know are looking for a situation in which to participate in those conversations, we will be holding bi-weekly educational meetings to serve that purpose. Each meeting will have a topic: an ideological question such as class analysis, or, examination of a current political phenomenon like racism or the "energy crisis," or, an informational theme such as recent developments in and gather evidence on case after case after case. Intelligence information was accumulating on this and many more groups involved in similar activities. All types of networks and associations among groups, their lawyers, their supporters and their bankrolls were uncovered. The "Weather Underground" stayed underground and some of those few that didn't have indictments or "wants" on them developed some replacements, but the Weather veterans kept a wary eye on them to prevent undercover infiltrators from penetrating to decision-making positions.

Most of the W.U.O. were caught or stayed underground until assured by their radical attorneys that the government or state wouldn't, or couldn't effectively prosecute, or would "make a deal." Horrendous felonies might draw 2 years, some, one day; some others-probation. Rarely, except for exceptionally brutal bomber-killers or maimers, would an individual receive a stiff jail-time sentence, such as Sam Melville or Karleton Lewis Armstrong drew for their expert fatal bomb blasts.

By February 15, 1974, most federal cases against the members of the W.U.O. were adjudicated one way or another; the usual wrist-slap. The following "Weather Underground" were the only ones wanted on fugitive charges:

The Feminists and lesbians within the W.U.O. outnumbered the males and gays and were more militant than the males. By 1974 the W.U.O. had divided into two factions, the Central Committee led by Jeff Jones, who wanted to continue the same basic activities of the W.U.O., and the Revolutionary Committee, led by Bernardine Dohrn, Kathie Boudin, and Kathie Wilkerson.
 They demanded equality in planning and participation in revolutionary actions and organizational policy making. They wanted to de-sex the name of the group from "Weatherman" or "Weather Underground" to "Weather Persons". They lost that battle but won the war because at the next two underground conferences; "The Boston Conference" from July 11 to 13, 1975 and "Hard Times"
 Conference in Chicago held Jan. 30 to Feb. 1, 1976, the feminist-

NON-COLLABORATION! STOP THE GRAND JURY!!!

The five grand jury resisters (l-r): Andres Rosado, Steven Guerra, Maria Cueto, Julio Rosado and Ricardo Romem.

The five are leaders and supporters of the Movimiento de Liberacion Nacional (MLN), a revolutionary organization of Puerto Ricans and Mexicans inside the United States. They have been charged with criminal contempt of a federal grand jury because they refused to collaborate with this government attack on the Puerto Rican Independence Movement -- refused to snitch on their people and provide information to the state. In February they were convicted after an 8-day trial which clearly exposed that these charges were merely a cover for the political internment of public activists. Because the five are the first political activists ever to be convicted of criminal contempt, their sentencing before Judge Sifton on April 8 in Brooklyn Federal Court sets a precedent that will affect every principled activist who takes the stand of noncollaboration with the state. The MLN has issued a call to all progressive people to come to court and demonstrate against this repressive attack and to send letters of protest to Judge C. Sifton, US Fed. Court, 225 Cadman Plaza, Bklyn, NY 11202.

Mar. 26 Monthly picket/vigil in support of all grand jury resisters -- those resisting attacks on both the Puerto Rican Independence Movement and the New Afrikan (Black) liberation struggle -- at Metropolitan Correctional Center, 150 Park Row (corner Pearl St.), Manhattan, 6:00-8:00 PM. (Subway: 4, 5, 6 to Bklyn Bridge)

Apr. 3 Political evening to commemorate the anniversary of the capture of the 11 Puerto Rican Prisoners of War. Sponsored by the National Committee to Free the Puerto Rican Prisoners of War. Casa de las Americas, 104 W. 14th St., Manhattan. 7:00 PM.

Apr. 6 Carlos Noya of the Puerto Rican Socialist League and Federico Cintron-Fiallo of the Unitary Committee Against Repression, two independentists from Puerto Rico, appear in Brooklyn Federal Court at 9:30 AM before Judge Sifton, after having refused in February to collaborate with the grand jury, to face a decision on whether or not they go to jail, and for how long.

On March 18, Shelley Miller of the New Movement in Solidarity with the Puerto Rican and Mexican Revolutions and May 19th Communist Organization, and Silvia Baraldini of May 19th Communist Organization, were released from prison after serving 6 weeks for civil contempt. They were charged with criminal contempt and trial was set for May. STOP THE GRAND JURY!

lesbian faction, later joined by gays changed the philosophy from:
 "Weather" - start the revolution by ourselves and support and encourage the black and hispanic vanguards ----

-to-

"Prairie Fire" - the revolution is here, so lead it and develop and cooperate with the black and hispanics and other true revolutionaries until victory. ¹⁹

By 1977 the split reunited under the name of the Prairie
 Fire Distributing Committee, (P.F.D.C.), or the better known
 Prairie Fire Organizing Committee, (P.F.O.C.), A.K.A. the May 19th Communist Organization (M. 19 C.O.). On the west coast the group preferred to be called the Prairie Fire Organizing Committee, and centered in San Francisco and Los Angeles, they established a support network with the Symbionese Liberation Army, (S.L.A.), the New World Liberation Front, (N W L F), the Chicano Liberation Front (C L F), and the Black Guerrilla Family (B.G.F.), and the Red Guerrilla Family (R.G.F.), both of which consisted of black radicalized hardened convicts or ex-convicts who had close ties with the Black Liberation Army, (B.L.A.), and the Black Panthers (B.P.P.).

On the east coast there was only a hint of some scattered Weather support for other group's marches and demonstrations because the May 19th Communist Organization was regrouping quietly and recruiting some young blood, mostly female bi-sexuals and lesbians. Some of the gays from the "Days of Rage" remained.

By 1977 there was no draft; the Vietnam War was over and the C.I.A. was decimated by the swift axing of 800 plus covert agents, and the Defense Department was down to a dangerous level.
 Social service programs were up and so were federally sponsored student loans. Draft evaders were given amnesty, and homosexual rights was federal policy. "Affirmative Action" was interpreted as "quotas".

The endless stream of discontented college students slowed to a trickle. The 350 Chapters of 40,000 S.D.S. members in 1976 was in a nose-dive. Students were turning from "service" oriented college studies to "producer" professions.

VII. Brooklyn Police Officer Spots Terrorists

I, James Wilson, the author of this paper, was appointed to the position of Police Officer in the New York City Police Department in January 1964, and had, over the years, a close-up view of the marches, riots, demonstrations, and provocations that are now a dim memory to most people my age. Being of modest means, I decided to prevent myself from drifting into mental atrophy, caused by the long dull hours of patrol, by indulging in the only pastimes I could afford, reading and radio. Besides sciences, of all fields, I loved history. Within a year, and a few riots, I became interested in the activities of the radical groups and individuals who seemed to occupy the 6 and 7 P.M. news. Besides having a pretty good memory, I began to subscribe to new companies that specialized in current events and internal security matters, and saved the newsletters and accompanying indexes.

In 1976, as a 13 year veteran of a wide range of duties, I was given the extra assignment as "Intelligence Officer" of the "North Park Slope" Precinct in Brooklyn. I lived in Park Slope all my life, just a few blocks outside the Precinct boundaries. The right man, at the right time at the right place.

I checked the files and found them inadequate. For about six months I indexed and cross-indexed every intelligence report since 1968, (by name, A.K.A. name, address, auto plate, telephone number postal box and meter number and organization), in the areas of narcotics, public morals, and public security. I memorized the few locations, known at that time, that housed radical groups, and, in uniform simply gave it some special attention. I read the local leftist newspapers and read the scores of "bulletin boards" and began to notice some bulletin boards, mail boxes, and walls seemed to be reserved for radical notices. I knew that marginal Park Slope was being "gentrified" by rather wealthy and upper middle-class liberal professionals; products of the "protest generation". Park Slope also contained pockets of hispanics and blacks and this mixture made Park Slope a perfect nest for the "Prairie Fire", now known as the May 19th Communist Organization (M.19 C.O.) and a good hideout for the Black Liberation Army and the (F.A.L.N.).

By the summer of 1978, I was becoming amazed at the number of groups proliferating in the area. The South Brooklyn Action Movement, made up of eight members, ran about eight front groups. The San Art Gallery, an art supply store and art gallery, that occupied a four story brownstone house, ran from 3 to 5 front organizations. The Park Slope Food Coop ran at least 6 front groups. The "All Peoples' Congress", a violent prone and well financed street protest group, with close ties to the Communist Party and led by older (S.D.S.) veterans appeared to coordinate or at least influence the activities of the three above organizations.

The next group worried me. The "Liberator Bookstore", was a storefront housing the "International Committee Against Racism" (In CAR), a violent prone street activist group, fronting for the Maoist "Progressive Labor Party", and led by Ira Perilson and attorney Lauren Seigel, both long time (S.D.S.) veterans. Their location was at the north end of 5th Avenue near Flatbush Ave., only 500 feet from my station house. That end of 5th Avenue wasn't gentrified yet and was called "Up the Middle" because when there was any "community unrest", police officers could expect bottles, rocks and molotov cocktails to be thrown at them as they proceeded north or south along that 5th Avenue gauntlet, and then be greeted with a "Civilian Complaint" by one of the "Liberator" group, if the officer took a police action. The bookstore also became the neighborhood headquarters of two other troublesome groups: "Fightback", led by the famous dashiki clad salt-and-pepper haired black socialist James Haughton of Harlem, would close down construction sites until the boss promised some "no show" jobs.

"Black United Front" was inspired by recidivist ex-convict Herbert Doughtry, who after his last release from prison was visited by the Holy Ghost and bought a roman-collar, took over a vacant church, and became a leader of the black community by the publicity generated by an invasion of Mayor Edward Koch's City Hall office. Months later, with Jitu Weusi A.K.A. Les Campell the wildly anti-semetic former leader of the Revolutionary Action Movement, (R.A.M.) at his side, Rev. Doughtry and four others attempted to assault the Mayor, as the Mayor strolled down Atlantic Ave. during a "feast". Six police officers were injured during the melee. Incredibly, these six officers' personal identifications could not indict Doughtry. Doughtry could be relied upon to picket my station house at the drop of a dime over the latest "brutality" by the police.

William Wakefield's criminal family also had some connections to the "Liberator Bookstore". William robbed banks and then after he got his money he executed the managers by walking up to the prone managers, who would be face down with hands behind their necks, and blew their brains out with a shot or two from his 9 millimeter Browning automatic pistol, (The Big Nine), while yelling some anti-white epithets. The police knew him but couldn't find him, so the detectives put a little pressure on the rest of his family; every one of them a practicing felon. They in turn, put pressure on William to turn himself in. William picked up his Browning 14 shot "Big Nine", and set out to shoot everyone in my station house. One hundred twenty feet from his destination, he saw some policemen, walked up to them and began the shooting spree that killed a retired detective, crippled one police officer, and wounded two more before he was finally cut down, after a running gun battle, across the street from the "Liberator Bookstore". The screams of brutality got Doughtry interested and some local Black Muslims threatening to take on the cops. I quietly assembled some bits and pieces of information, and on Christmas Day, 1977 interviewed one last officer, then called Intelligence Division to report a planned ambush on the station house by rifle or cross-bow. We received 24 hour inside/outside security and three days later, Williams' cousin Larry Cummins, was arrested. In his possession was an insulated camouflaged hunting suit, cross-bow and seven bolts (arrows). The leaders, members and associates of this Maoist oriented "Bookstore" meant business.

THE MONCADA LIBRARY

I first noticed the dingy storefront on the corner of 12th Street and 6th Avenue in the spring of 1978. The handpainted sign read "Moncada Library", and after passing it three times I finally noticed a flier advertizing a demonstration against Citi-Bank because the bank was donating bullet-proof vests to the New York City Police Department. After another two or three demonstrations and reading more of their fliers, I became concerned at the volatility of their written material. A few names came up in their material and some local newspaper interviews: Judith Clark, Eva Rosahn, Dana Biberman, Marcy Schulman, Prairie Fire Organizing Committee. This was none other than the Weather Underground organizing under the front name of "Moncada", (Castro's first victory as he came out of Cuba's Sierra Maestra mountains was the capture of the sleepy Mondaca Army Barracks). The organization seemed to concentrate its activities in the affluent "radical chic" Upper West Side Manhattan, (Holy Name Church), the

A FORUM IN SOLIDARITY WITH THE AUGUST 8th BRIGADE -

Throughout U.S. history, every time Black and other Third World peoples have fought against oppression the Ku Klux Klan has arisen to try to smother the rising liberation movements. In New York State prisons, where Third World prisoners constitute at least 80% of the prison population, the prison administration has fostered Klan and other white supremacist activity among white prison guards as a response to prisoner organizing and resistance to repression.

ON AUGUST 8th, 1977, BLACK AND LATIN PRISONERS AT EASTERN CORRECTIONAL FACILITY, NARANCHO, NY WAGED A MASSIVE REBELLION. They demanded the firing of prison guards sergeants Budd and Sluka, known white supremacists and suspected Klan members; passage of parole legislation; an end to debilitating diet and unsanitary mess-hall conditions; and amnesty for all prisoners who participated in the Rebellion. The Rebellion was part of a long on-going fight by the brothers and other Third World prisoners against the repression of liberation movements carried out by the prison system in general, and against the racist brutality and terrorism carried out by the KKK guards and prison administration in particular.

Hundreds of brothers participated in the Rebellion. 10 brothers were singled out and indicted for felonies such as unlawful imprisonment, coercion, and assault (which carry 7-15 year penalties) after the Rebellion. AT THE SAME TIME, not one of the demands of the Rebellion has been addressed by the Department of Corrections -- despite their promises. During the Rebellion, to investigate these demands. The brothers face criminal trials in Ulster County in upstate NY (where Narancho is located), a county well-known for wide-spread Klan activity. The brothers have continued their resistance to the Klan and prison repression by organizing themselves as the AUGUST 8th BRIGADE to carry on the struggle on the inside and to direct the legal and political defense of the AUGUST 8th REBELLION in the courts and on the streets.

Meanwhile, the Klan continues and increases its white supremacist terrorism within the prison walls. Sgt. Siuka (whose removal was a demand of the Rebellion) has been assigned to Green Haven prison, where the 10 indicted AUGUST 8th BRIGADE members are incarcerated. This means he has direct control over the brothers, whom he harasses daily at the same time they are struggling to continue the exposure and protest of Klan activities. And just last week the NY papers reported that a Klan guard in Mid-Orange county jail dressed in a Klan robe and pretended to "lynch" a Black prisoner, dragging him by a rope around his neck and beating him.

One of the indicted AUGUST 8th BRIGADE members has said: "If you do not support the Klan and other forms of organized racism which work as a component of capitalism by justifying the super-exploitation of Third World people and helping to cloud the contradiction of monopoly finance capital, then you must support the AUGUST 8th BRIGADE. Prisons are only a 'legalized' form of chattel slavery. They must be smashed! All slaves have a right to resist. We represented the right on August 8th!"

A FORUM SUPPORTING THE STRUGGLE OF THE AUGUST 8th BRIGADE WILL BE HELD AT THE MONCADA LIBRARY, 480 6th AVENUE, BROOKLYN, ON SUNDAY, JUNE 4 AT 7:30 P.M.

IS PARK SLOPE 7th HEAVEN ?

Park Slope has been a community in struggle for over 10 years. The struggle has been over whose community this really is, and who will control it. The "development" of Park Slope has meant waves of white people moving in destroying Black and Latin communities. This has not been a peaceful change.

- * Summer 1976: The homes of Black families on Carroll Street are fire-bombed by white racists who don't want Black people moving into "their" neighborhood. Organized white supremacist forces in this community fight for genocide.
- * Summer 1977: A mural on 1st Street and Fifth Avenue, painted by Black and Puerto Rican teenagers, depicting the reality and struggles of Third World people in this community, is white washed in the middle of the night by racist forces.
- * Summer 1978: White gangs paint racist slogans all over the community and regularly attack, terrorize and kill Third World people in the streets. Sixth Avenue is a DMZ where organized and spontaneous forces of white supremacy are moving to physically destroy Third World communities by any means necessary. The schools are institutions of white supremacy that seek to destroy the culture and traditions of Third World people and force illiteracy. They are places where the history and the future of the world are misinterpreted and distorted. Rev. Moon and his followers--backed by CIA money--spread fascist propaganda about how white people have to "defend ourselves" from Third World people. And anonymous racists distribute "WANTED" posters; attacking freedom fighters for Puerto Rican independence - the FALN - and are attempting to incite racist hysteria against all Puerto Rican people.....

These are not just "flaws" in an otherwise harmonious community. These are all part of the world-wide attacks against Black, Puerto Rican, Native American, and Mexicano/Chicano peoples here and Third World peoples around the world. They are all part of a genocidal strategy to control and destroy Third World nations and defeat their struggles for human justice and freedom. The strategy of "renovation" in Park Slope is part of this strategy. Racist forces have a strategy to extend the fancy stores and restaurants on 7th Ave. to Prospect Avenue -- to burn down housing and jack-up rents--to create another Brooklyn Heights in Park Slope. "Urban renewal" is "urban removal" and in Park Slope means just what it has meant everywhere else in the last 10 years: it is part of a racist war to destroy Third World people by dispersing and destroying their communities.

But this genocidal attack has always and is being fought. We can look at the Black-led boycott of the downtown Brooklyn stores, in protest of the police murder of a ten-year old Black child - Randy Evans, and in support of the demand that these stores support Black community struggles.. Or the recent struggles at nearby Brooklyn College to support and defend Africans and Puerto Rican studies and oppose racist attacks on the SEEK program and the human rights of Third World students. These militant struggles have set an example for those of us who are white. We must actively join the struggles against genocide and white supremacy.

Protest the Murder of Edwin Quiñones

Edwin Quiñones' life (19 years old) was ended on April 8, 1980 by police officer Prestella of the 78th Precinct.

Edwin Quiñones, a young Puerto Rican factory worker, was chased into the Gowanus Projects after he drove through a red light. The police carried out his death sentence for going through that red light. They claim he jumped out of the car and started shooting at them. However, witnesses stated that he got out of the car and had his hands in the air when Prestella shot him in the chest and killed him.

Edwin Quiñones is not the first Puerto Rican or Black to be killed in a situation like this. Last June, Bronx police beat 35-year old Peter Funchies to death after he went through a light. 17-year old Daryl Walker was shot to death by New Jersey police when they stopped him for going through a light. They said "he was reaching for a weapon" - that later turned out to be a radio. None of these policemen have ever been brought to justice.

Edwin Quiñones is not the only victim of the police in Brooklyn either. Four weeks after his murder, 15 policemen stormed into a dance at the People's Community Center on Fifth Avenue. They terrorized the people at the dance; and without a search warrant, they ransacked the place, then arrested Mrs. Martha Huntley who is active in her community block association and the P.T.A. Ten days later in Greenpoint, Brooklyn, police beat and arrested Mrs. Hilda Rosado, her son, and a friend who came to her aid.

This is happening to Blacks and Puerto Ricans everywhere, and it is getting worse. Just as the unemployment is growing, the rent and prices are climbing, just like discrimination is increasing everywhere - police brutality and murder are on the rise. It is all part of the same system to keep us down.

To most of us, Edwin Quiñones may be just another name, another Puerto Rican killed by the police. We will never feel the grief and the anger his family, loved ones and friends are feeling. But you can be sure of one thing, every time the police kill a Black or Latino and the rest of the "justice system" covers it up, and we do nothing, it makes it easier for them to pull that trigger the next time. Because they know they are carrying out "official policy". The whole government will back them up. The more they are getting away with it, the worse it gets, and the closer it brings their terrorism to each and every one of us. We must draw the line. Basta ya!

Edwin Quiñones' case has gone to the grand jury. We are demonstrating to let the police and the District Attorney know that the community is alerted, and watching the "justice" process.

Join the Quiñones' family and us in demanding punishment for the policemen who killed Edwin Quiñones.

Join a Class on the Revolutionary Struggle for Women's Liberation ju

The 1980's have begun! And in New York City, as across the country, this means that the lives of the great majority of women are harder than they have ever been. Due to the success of national liberation struggles against imperialism worldwide, and particularly the recent victory of the Zimbabwean people, the U.S. is faced with heightening political and economic crises. These losses are forcing the government to increase its exploitation and oppression of all women and drastically cut all essential services. For Third World women this means having to fight daily attacks against their families as they bear the brunt of imperialism's crisis and playing a major role in the struggles of their people to combat genocide. Assata Shakur (liberated prisoner of war) is one such leader who has always played a key role in Black people's struggle for liberation.

For all working class women, faced with maintaining the survival of our communities, these rapidly deteriorating conditions mean fighting to stop the devastation of our communities brought by urban removal programs. This planned decay is being enforced through police terror aimed particularly at Third World youth and a booming drug trade protected by the police. As women face heightening attacks and rapes, lesbians face more violence while also being forced to fight against the kidnap of our children and loss of our jobs. We know the cops have never been our allies. The police are imperialism's occupying armies in Third World communities and are used to enforce the same system which oppresses all women.

indication of "guilty knowledge" of current or recent crimes, plus their connections to other terrorist groups, might have made a serious effort to obtain a court prescribed wire-tap, or at least, attempt to infiltrate or surveil their activities. Some of the Exhibits submitted in this paper indeed indicate a "guilty knowledge" and working relationship among these organizations and the harboring of at least some of the fugitives underground at that time.. The existence of an active investigation complete with wire taps as early as the fall of 1979, would have uncovered the planning of the four other armored car robberies and the planned blinding of a police officer at J.F.K. Airport, along with the "Big Dance" on Oct. 20, 1981. In all, the 3 police officers killed, 2 police officers maimed, 6 police officers wounded, and 2 Brink's guard killed could have been prevented. Their own extensive records show two years were needed to acquire new identities through falsified birth certificates, credit-card carbons, and "lost" drivers licenses and social security numbers, adapt to their new identities, the targeted robbery locations pinpointed, the dry-runs of the actual robbery, escape routes, alternate routes, and diversions, and interceptions by ramming or blocking vehicles for the five known robberies had to be coordinated among some 40 active and backup participants. Safe houses in Westchester, the Bronx, Manhattan, Brooklyn, and New Jersey had to be properly supplied with gear and numerous rented vehicles acquired and everything done surreptitiously.

Repeated loud raucus demonstrations at Citi-bank, Brooklyn Union Gas Company, police stations, Burger-Kings, and scenes of so-called racially motivated incidents became more numerous. Between 15 and 60 of this apparently lesbian led group showed up each time. Occasionally a leader would come into my station house to apply for Parade Permits or Sound Device Permits. During one of these visits, one of the females sketched and described that part of the station house that she walked through in excellent detail. Besides this, one of the females reported her pocketbook "snatched" and

ATTEMPTS TO INTIMIDATE "YUPPIES" FROM THE "GENTRIFICATION" OF THE PARK SLOPE NEIGHBORHOOD OF BROOKLYN. REAR OF PAMPHLET. JAN. 1980

FIGHT URBAN GENOCIDE

The brownstoners of Park Slope—mostly young, white professionals—don't look much like the Ku Klux Klan. They don't burn crosses, they don't wear robes and hoods, and many of them claim to be 'liberals.' But in reality, these brownstoners are part of a program that accomplishes the same thing the Klan fights for: genocide of Black and Puerto Rican people to defeat national liberation struggles, through the destruction of Third World communities.

The Brownstoners are the white settlers who move in and take over communities from which Third World people have been driven out. Brownstoners move into and 'renovate' housing that was inhabited by Third World families until the landlords and realtors abandoned or burned the buildings. Backed by real estate speculators and corporate forces like Brooklyn Union Gas, the brownstoners form one prong of a strategy that includes violence and terror by killer cops and white gangs, the drug plague and unemployment, and the KKK organizing on many levels, including most insidiously, among white youth—all aimed at driving Third World people out of the community. The new white residents call for increased police 'protection' for their 'beautified' community, calling for more of the violence and terror that turned a Third World community into a showcase for the new gentry of white power.

THIS IS URBAN GENOCIDE: A WAR STRATEGY OF US IMPERIALISM TO DESTROY THIRD WORLD LIBERATION MOVEMENTS BY ENCIRCLING AND DESTROYING THE BLACK AND PUERTO RICAN COMMUNITIES THAT GIVE THEM LIFE. In a period of time that has seen the tremendous consolidation and advance of the Black liberation struggle in particular, urban genocide is heightening in New York City and throughout the country.

The 'gentrification' of Park Slope is the impact of a strategy set in motion in the late 1960's and early 1970's, when the urban seats of imperialist power were threatened by the rise of national liberation movements within this country. Given leadership and power by revolutionary organizations and the development of an armed Black underground, the massive struggles of Black and other Third World peoples for community control and self-determination fundamentally challenged white power. "Master Plans" began to be implemented in Los Angeles, Detroit, Chicago, New York, Boston, Philadelphia—military plans to isolate and destroy Third World communities.

But this strategy has not succeeded in crushing the national liberation struggles of Black and other Third World peoples. In fact, great victories have been won. In the past year alone, we have seen:

- The liberation of Assata Shakur and William Morales, imperialism's most heavily guarded prisoners of war, by the revolutionary armed forces of their nations.

- The building of the National Black Human Rights Campaign, leading the mobilization of thousands of Black people from all over the country to the UN on November 5th, demanding Human Rights is the Right to Self-determination, and uniting the struggles of Black people for human rights under revolutionary Black Nationalist leadership.

- The election and national speaking tour of Sister Dara Abubakari, President of the Provisional Government of the Republic of New Afrika, the subjugated Black Nation. Sister Dara's speaking tour marked a new offensive in the struggle to free the land—the national territory comprising Louisiana, Alabama, South Carolina, Mississippi and Georgia—to win independence for the Black nation.

- Mobilizations of thousands of Black people led by the National Black Human Rights Coalition and the Black United Front, to stop killer cops, following the murders of Arthur Miller and Luis Baez in Brooklyn, and 18-year old Emery Robinson in New Rochelle. The successful struggle led by the National Black Human Rights Coalition to prevent Koch, the PBA, the Zionist movement and other white supremacist forces from removing Judge Bruce Wright from the bench.

THE LIBERATION OF THE BLACK NATION WILL DEFEAT URBAN GENOCIDE AND WHITE SUPREMACY. While the 'liberal' brownstoners of Park Slope provide the political climate for KKK organizing to flourish—from KKK stickers to a white power rally in Prospect Park and undercover Klan organizing at John Jay High School—the National Black Human Rights Campaign is leading the strategy to defeat urban genocide and white supremacy, to win human rights and liberation. This is the battle that is raging throughout New York City and all across the country: the Black Nation's fight for freedom vs. the mobilization of the white oppressor nation under the banner of white supremacy.

Park Slope is a model of urban genocide—a blueprint for imperialism's strategy to wage war against Black and Puerto Rican people in the cities. This is a community where 10 years ago Los Machetes, a Puerto Rican nationalist organization and organizations of Black youth led successful struggles against police terror, racist education and for self-defense of their communities. This is a neighborhood with a history of support from sectors of the white population for these struggles for human rights; but today, the growing white supremacist unity between the white working class and the brownstone movement, and the winning over of formerly progressive forces to ally with the police in attacking Third World people, plays a key role in the state's strategy of genocide.

The John Brown Anti-Klan Committee and the Moricada Library, an anti-imperialist community center in Park Slope, are organizing this forum to build a campaign to fight urban genocide and white supremacy under the leadership of the National Black Human Rights Campaign. We call on all progressive white people to attend the forum and join the campaign, to build an anti-imperialist movement among white people that will be part of the leading struggle to destroy imperialism: the struggle of Third World nations for human rights, self-determination, land and independence.

DEATH TO THE KLAN

SUPPORT THE NATIONAL BLACK HUMAN RIGHTS CAMPAIGN

DEFEAT URBAN GENOCIDE

FIERY MATERIAL 1982

17 years ago Malcolm X was murdered by forces of the u.s. government in an effort to destroy the Black Liberation struggle. He was killed because of his leadership in building a movement based in the 400-year struggle of Black people in this country for human rights, and transforming it into a self-conscious national liberation struggle for land, independence, and self-determination. Malcolm X named the enemy of Black people as u.s. imperialism and their allies as the National Liberation Struggles of oppressed peoples around the world. Malcolm X led a struggle for power in this country, a struggle for "human rights by any means necessary."

In giving leadership to the building of modern revolutionary Black nationalism, Malcolm X stands as the leading revolutionary figure for all anti-imperialists in the u.s. He argued that white people in this country can be allies of the Black Liberation struggle in the defeat of white supremacy and u.s. imperialism if we support the full development of revolutionary struggle of the Black Nation and are ourselves willing to participate in the War in Amerika. "Fight like John Brown" still stands as the challenge to all white people who want an end to the growing reign of terror, violence and oppression that the u.s. is responsible for in this period of decline and crisis.

We call on all progressive people to join us in a demonstration to commemorate the life and death of Malcolm X and in honoring those New Afrikan Freedom Fighters who carry on the revolutionary Black nationalism in the struggle for land and independence.

We support those revolutionaries captured during the past ten years of struggle and during the attempted expropriation of the Brinks truck in Nyack, New York on October 20, 1981, those who have been captured since as a result of the FBI-led reign of terror against the Black movement, and those who remain free and fighting. We extend our solidarity to those white anti-imperialist freedom fighters -- part of the Revolutionary Armed Task Force -- who themselves fought in the tradition of John Brown. And, we call on white people to "fight like John Brown" by publicly taking a stand against killer cops and the Ku Klux Klan in their role as the domestic arm of u.s. imperialism.

Malcolm X named the cops as the real criminals -- as the murderers, the torturers, the army that works along with the Klan to preserve white supremacy and deny Black and other Third World people their human rights.

Today their role as an occupying army in Third World communities is clearer than ever. They are part of an increasingly centralized and fascist counter-insurgency force aimed at suppressing all anti-imperialist struggle in this country.

Local police forces around the country murdered 2000 Third World people in the past five years alone, and not one cop has ever been convicted of murder. While the Reagan administration promotes segregation and attacks affirmative action, the police are the grassroots enforcers of their program of genocide and apartheid. The cops are the drug pushers and the protectors of the arsonists that are destroying Third World neighborhoods in the urban centers; the cops are the force that sweeps hundreds of thousands of Black and other Third World youth into the prisons of Amerika. As attacks on women and the white working class increase every progressive movement will be the target of government and police repression. As resistance grows to this decaying system's strategy of fascism and war, the government is consolidating the police as a self-conscious and committed white supremacist force.

That is why the KKK is being promoted and built by and within the police forces. As Third World people fight back -- on the streets, through the building of self-defense units and the Black Liberation Army -- u.s. imperialism needs soldiers who will fight and die for a "cause" -- white supremacy and Amerikkkanism. The Klan plays that role within the police, prison guards, the military, and the Klan is building mass support for the police among white people. The Klan held public rallies to support killer cops in Meriden, CT., Jackson, MI, and dozens of other cities across the u.s. The PBA is the KKK, and we can only defeat the Klan if we are willing to take on the struggle against the police.

Along with building fascist soldiers, the u.s. government is consolidating the apparatus of a police state. The federal government created the SWAT teams, uses the FBI and CIA to train the police in counterinsurgency, and has now consolidated the FBI and NYPD into a "Joint Anti-Terrorism Task Force." It is this task force that murdered New Afrikan Freedom Fighter Mbayari Shabaka Sundiata. It is the FBI that is directing the systematic physical and psychological torture of the captured October 20th Freedom Fighters; they are responsible for breaking Solomon Brown's neck, destroying Sekou Odinga's pancreas and the beatings of Abdul Majid and James York. We demand an end to the use of these fascist methods. The "Anti-Terrorism Task Force" is orchestrating this campaign of terror in the name of "fighting terrorism." This media hysteria is an effort on the part of the u.s. government to build the political climate it needs to undertake its program of repression and murder against revolutionary Third World forces and white anti-imperialists as a key step in the building of fascism.

In 1982 the face of fascism is clear -- genocide, heightening oppression of women, a decreasing standard of living for working people, the growth of white supremacy. And the police are not only the men with the guns, they are also the focal point for the organizing of a mass base of support for fascism among white people and for building civilian vigilante groups. Police are promoted as the protectors of white women, when in fact, they abuse women, attack lesbians and preserve a system based on oppressing women. Working class women are not protected by the cops, they are controlled by them, yet they have been targeted by the police as a sector to consolidate, to organize, and build into a racist force that would attack Black and other Third World people in the name of protecting women.

Black and other Third World people are fighting against killer cops. The huge demonstrations in Miami and Milwaukee, community self-defense patrols and the building of armed clandestine organizations are all part of a strategy to build a struggle for power that can defeat killer cops and the Klan. But it is critical that white people take a stand in solidarity with this strategy and this leadership -- join in the daily struggles against killer cops, take on and oppose racist "law and order" and "anti-terrorism" organizing and rob killer cops of their mass support.

On February 19th, we will publicly demonstrate our opposition to the cops and the FBI and our unconditional support for the Black Liberation Struggle and its freedom fighters. This demonstration can be a step forward in building a movement that will isolate the real terrorists, and create a movement that supports every form of struggle. It is part of building a movement that can win.

WELCOME

BLOOD OF THE CONDOR depicts the struggle of a Bolivian Indian community against a massive sterilization program run by the U.S. Peace Corps. It graphically shows the impact of U.S. imperialism on Third World nations, and that it is the women of oppressed nations who are a particular focus of the U.S. genocidal strategy. The struggle to destroy the Peace Corps program becomes a part of the struggle to liberate the entire nation. We are presenting this film as part of the struggle to build a revolutionary anti-imperialist women's movement, by taking on the struggle against genocide under the leadership of Third World liberation struggles.

The Moncada Library is an anti-imperialist lending library and community organizing center in Park Slope, Brooklyn. As white anti-imperialists, our program is to support the struggle of the Black Nation for human rights, self-determination, independence, and land, and the liberation struggles of all Third World people, and to fight white supremacy. We have worked for the past two years to build support for the National Black Human Rights Campaign; the Puerto Rican independence movement; and the now-victorious freedom fighters of the Zimbabwe African National Union (ZANU); and to organize to stop killer cops, to smash the Ku Klux Klan and all forms of white supremacy. In addition to our film series, we encourage you to visit the library and participate in our other programs: the anti-genocide action committee; the anti-white supremacist program for teenagers; work to build a revolutionary anti-imperialist women's movement; raising material aid for ZANU; and Spanish-language lessons.

We are picketing Citibank because it is New York City's #1 corporate sponsor of fascist programs such as Civilian Motor Radio Patrols, Civilian Observation Patrols (COPS) and blockwatchers that are built as a base of support for killer cops.

Citibank is a major force promoting and profiting from the systematic urban removal aimed at destroying Third World and working class communities.

Citibank is the world's largest lender to the fascist white settler regime of South Africa. Citibank backs counterinsurgency and terror against Third World peoples struggling for their land and liberation -- whether that's in South Africa, in Puerto Rico, Brooklyn or Miami.

The Moncada Library is calling this picket at Citibank to launch a major community-wide campaign to STOP KILLER COPS and to take a stand against the building of a base for police terror in Park Slope. We ask you to join us, to participate in the strategy led by Black and other Third World peoples against killer cops and white supremacy and to fight for human rights and liberation.

Speaker & Discussion
Silvia Baraldini, May 19th Communist Organization

A delegation from the Black Liberation struggle and the white, anti-imperialist movement in this country was invited by ZANU(PF) to be official observers during the February campaigns and elections in Zimbabwe. As part of continuing solidarity, we call on all women to support a free and independent Zimbabwe by building the National Campaign in Solidarity with ZANU Women's League. This is a nationwide campaign to build the Women's Institute in Zimbabwe. After 17 years of People's War, Zimbabwe defeated the forces of U.S. imperialism, British colonialism, and the white settler regime of Ian Smith. Faced not only with the system of imperialism and white supremacy, but a tradition that viewed women as property without rights, the Zimbabwean women fought to overcome these barriers to participate in the fight of their nation to be free. Fully one-third of the National Liberation Army (ZANLA) was women guerrillas. The Zimbabwean women have shown in practice that their liberation as women could only come through their full participation in the national liberation struggle. As Zimbabwe begins National Reconstruction, the revolution continues. In order to guarantee the full participation of women, the Women's Institute has been designed to organize women to be equal participants and to build women's leadership. As we enter the 1980s, we see more clearly that we must build a movement that fights for our needs as women. The struggles of African women worldwide and of Black and Third World women here show us that imperialism is our common enemy -- it needs to oppress and exploit us and it needs to wage genocidal war against Third World communities to survive. Fight for the winning strategy and help build the National Campaign in Solidarity with the ZANU women's League. Please join us.

she could identify the two teenagers. She rode around the area in the rear of a radio-motor-patrol car and later wrote down the best way to assassinate police officers was by shooting them through the backrests of the front seats.

By the summer of 1980 "Moncada Library" had moved and was well established at 434 - 5th Ave., near the 5th Ave. and 9th St. "Hub". They occupied the second story loft of a 2 story building. This was considered the south end of the "gentrified" area at the time, while the "Liberator Book Store" was ideally located on the north end of 5th Ave. for more neighborhood violence potential. Suddenly, the "Liberator Bookstore" closed down and the International Committee Against Racism" of the Progressive Labor Party moved to the East Flatbush area of Brooklyn.

1981 didn't start well for the May 19th Communist Organization. Their planned violent demonstration at President Ronald Reagan's Inauguration fizzled, and their planned disruption of N.Y. City Mayor Koch's "Neighborhood Town Hall Meeting" at Park Slope's John Jay High School was not only diverted to the exit by the police, but the liberal audience was getting fed up with these neighborhood loudmouths. Spring found the (May 19th C.O.) personally intimidating the local liberals who had formed (S.C.A.N.), the "Slope Citizens Anticrime Network", and who assisted the North Park Slope Precinct with a successful and responsible citizen patrol of the "North Slope". In May, 1981, Six members of (May 19 C.O.) were arrested on 5th Ave. for assaulting a person within feet of two police officers and then resisting arrest. In September and October, a helicopter was spotted hovering over both mine and the "South Slope Precinct" stationhouse, and on September 27, 1981, 5 (May 19) members were arrested at John Fitzgerald Kennedy Airport during their protest of the presence of the "Springbok" Rugby Team from South Africa. They blinded a police officer with a jar of a prepared lye mixture.

STATEMENT TO THE PRESS

November 2, 1981
Black Solidarity Day

May 19th Communist Organization is participating in this press conference called by the Provisional Government of the Republic of New Africa to extend our full solidarity to the captured combatants, the Black liberation movement and in particular the Provisional Government of the Republic of New Africa. We are also here to correct the lies and distortions that have appeared in the press concerning our organization.

Since October 20th, the day of the alleged robbery in Nyack, N.Y., the U.S. government has engaged in acts of terrorism against the Black liberation struggle, its supporters, and the Black community in general. Mayari Shabaka Sundiata (slave name: Sam Smith), a New African Freedom Fighter, was murdered in cold blood by Detective Irwin Jacobson of the New York Police Department. New African Freedom Fighter Sekou Odings (slave name: Nathaniel Burns), a long-time leader in the Black liberation struggle, is now in Kings County Hospital because he was tortured by the New York City Police Department—he was beaten, burned with cigars, a gun was held to his head and the trigger pulled when he would not give answers to the cops, and his head was immersed in a flushing toilet. We fully support Comrade Sekou Odings.

There are four combatants — Samuel Brown, Judith Clark, Kathy Boudin, and David Gilbert — who were captured on October 20th. These comrades have all been long-time activists in the struggles for human rights and self-determination for the Black nation and all oppressed nations. Since 1978, Judy Clark has been a member and public spokesperson for May 19th Communist Organization. They have been beaten, held without bail, and placed in solitary confinement. Their arraignment was held in an armed camp and the public was totally excluded. Samuel Brown has been beaten and denied medical care. Their present conditions include:

- 23 hours a day solitary confinement in the box.
- No visits from friends and supporters.
- No contact visits from parents or their children.
- Denial of access to the lawyer of their choice, Chokwe Lumumba, on the order of the Rockland County District Attorney.

Our organization fully supports the captured combatants and we demand

"Judith Schneider" without one shred of evidence. She is totally innocent and we demand her immediate release.

May 19th Communist Organization, another target of the government's sweep, is named after the birthday of Ho Chi Minh and Malcolm X, two great revolutionary leaders of the world-wide struggle against U.S. imperialism. May 19th Communist Organization is committed to the struggle to defeat U.S. imperialism and to uphold the right of self-determination for all oppressed nations. In particular we support the right of the Black nation to land and independence, the struggle for independence and socialism in Puerto Rico, the liberation of the Chicano/Mexicano people, and sovereignty for Native American nations. There is now a major media campaign to turn May 19th into a "terrorist organization."

We mobilize white working class people to fight organized white supremacy and for the construction of a new society based on human rights, self-determination, the full liberation of women, and the building of socialism. We fully support the right of oppressed nations to wage armed struggle. The state is attacking us because of our principles and program of support for the right of self-determination, support for the waging of armed struggle, and our commitment to actively fight organized white supremacy.

Members of our organization are now being illegally detained at Riker's Island prison for joining in a protest against the racist South African rugby team. This protest was one of hundreds of demonstrations and actions taken around the world to stop this illegal tour, and was totally in line with United Nations resolutions directing the governments and peoples of the world to protest and isolate the illegal racist apartheid regime of South Africa and to support the righteous struggles of the people of Namibia and Azania for their liberation. It is the actions of the U.S. government in support of South Africa that violate the law and the principles of the world community. Yet those who demonstrated against the Springboks are still in jail, held on excessive and clearly punitive bail. The Anti-Springbok 5 were initially released on $1000 cash bond each. Since the events in Nyack they have been targeted by the state and the press.

- After October 20th they were brought back to court on a lesser charge and held on $10,000 bail each.

On or about Oct. 11, 1981, I began to instruct the outgoing Day Platoon of my suspicions that the May 19th Communist Organization was planning an act of violence due to the recent upsurge of attacks on police officers, that the recent literature had become so virulent it couldn't be surpassed, that even with all the activity in our command we haven't had one violent clash, and lastly, we have had a helicopter hovering above our station house along with the neighboring "South Slope Precinct" station house. I advised the officers that if they saw a group acting in a provocative manner, not to take immediate action. "Call the Patrol Sergeant to a location out of sight of the group, and tell him what you recommend be taken if you observed a violation of law. This way you won't get suckered into an ambush and the sergeant can approach with strength. Remember, all of these bastards are karate or guerrilla trained---watch out for long hat pins or crocheting needles---be careful!"

At 4 P.M., Oct. 20, 1981, the May 19th Communist Coalition was staked out at the Nanuet shopping mall. Earlier, like clock-work, they had assembled in small groups at the Harlem Accupuncture Center, the Bronx safe house and other locations, then drove, using various routes, to their assigned positions. The bank was penetrated, the U-Haul truck was ready, getaway cars, crash and blocking cars ready and an arsenal of M.16 semi-automatic rifles, sawed-off shotguns, and 14 shot "Big - Nines" were warming in the action-team's hands. The money bags were being carried to the opened rear doors of the Brink's armored truck. The action team swept toward the guards, and as the guards gave first reaction to the approaching danger, Nathaniel Burns cut them down with multiple shots from his sawed-off

Fatal Brink's heist yields clues to Jersey arms cache

By JOHN RANDAZZO, JERRY SCHMETTERER, JOYCE WHITE and DON SINGLETON

Armed with a tip from witnesses to the bloody armored-car ambush in Rockland County, police and FBI agents raided an East Orange, N.J., apartment yesterday and seized a cache of weapons, a bomb manual and blueprints of six Manhattan North police station-houses.

Police and federal sources told the Daily News yesterday that Tuesday's $1,589,000 heist, in which two police officers and an armored-car guard were killed, may signal the birth of a dangerous underground coalition of the deadly Weather Underground and the even deadlier Black Liberation Army.

The new radical group, believed to call itself the May 19 Coalition—after the birthdate of the late Chairman Mao Zedong—is suspected of having pulled several major robberies in recent months to bankroll its network of underground "safe houses" and possible terrorist activities.

Fingerprint experts identified one of four suspects arrested in Tuesday's massacre as Katherine Boudin, a 38-year-old fugitive member of the radical underground Weathermen, who has been in hiding since the urban guerrilla bomb factory explosion that destroyed a Greenwich Village townhouse in March 1970.

That same year, the Weather Underground took responsibility for a bombing at the old Police Headquarters building on Centre St.

Several persons who live in the East Orange apartment-building where the early-morning raid took place were shown a picture of Boudin and identified her as the woman who moved into the apartment last August, sources told the Daily News last night. But others said they were not

Correction Officer Michael Koch describes how he captured Katherine Boudin.

I'm no hero: Rikers guard

By FRED KERBER

"I don't feel like a hero—the officers were heroes," said Michael Koch, the city correction officer who captured Katherine Boudin, the 1960s radical fugitive who was an alleged accomplice in Tuesday's robbery of a Rockland County bank and slaying of a bank guard and two Nyack cops.

"To be perfectly honest, I just stumbled upon something that the other officers stumbled upon first," he said. Koch said he didn't even know who Boudin, 38, an alleged member of the radical Weather Underground, was.

Koch yesterday described his harrowing experience on the New York Thruway, where a band of bank robbers shot and killed the two policemen at a roadblock, and told of how he caught Boudin.

Koch, a bearded 35-year-old who works with the security division at Rikers Island, said he was driving north on the Thruway about 4:15 p.m. Tuesday—his day off—when he noticed the roadblock on the southbound side of the road.

AS HE SLOWED down to see what was going on, he saw a policeman walking on the road with a woman. Then he suddenly heard gunfire and saw the policeman fall to the ground.

Koch said he stopped his car, drew

One by one, bested by time, by fate and by internal strife, their leaders have surfaced and the ranks of the radical Weather Underground, scourge of "The Establishment" in the 1960s, appeared to have dwindled.

City police intelligence officers believe that Weathermen arrested in the Nanuet armored car heist were members of a newly created cell called the May 19 Coalition, which takes its name from Mao Zedong's birth date.

Initially part of the less violent Prairie Fire Committee, this faction turned from political demonstrations to bank robberies as a source of funds to support an underground network that enabled fugitives such as Kathy Boudin to remain in hiding for more than 11 years, according to intelligence officers.

But as key leaders surfaced, some former members pronounced the Weather Underground dead. And the fact that Boudin, now 38, is alleged to have taken a personal role in Tuesday's bloody assault might indicate that founders of the Weather Underground had few new recruits to turn to.

But there are at least 20 persons still believed to be in the Weather Underground, living clandestinely in cells of five or six persons.

Two Underground members are wanted on state or federal charges. Jeff Jones is wanted in connection with a Hoboken, N.J., "bomb factory" incident in 1970, and the FBI is seeking Elias (Tim) Bissell, a Seattle radical accused of bombing

2 Men Arrested In Brink's Case By Authorities

Director in charge of the New York office of the F.B.I., said at a news conference at the bureau's offices at 26 Federal Plaza after the arrests that a .9-millimeter pistol and 100 rounds of .380-caliber ammunition had been found in an apartment occupied by Mr. Joseph West 14th Street. Some radical literature was also found there, he said.

At the West 110th Street apartment occupied by Mr. Ferguson, Mr. Walton said, a glove was found that bore traces of red dye of the kind that bank employees put in money bags during robberies to leave a mark on the robber. And at the Black Acupuncture Advisory Association, he said, authorities found a .22-caliber rifle with a telescopic sight.

Mr. Joseph was described at the news conference as a member of the "original Black Panther 21," who were accused of having been involved in conspiracies to bomb city buildings in the early 1970's. Thirteen of the Panthers were tried and acquitted in 1971.

Mr. Ferguson was described as a member of the Black separatist movement known as the Republic of New Afrika.

At their arraignment, John S. Martin Jr., the United States Attorney for the Southern District of New York, said Mr. Joseph was convicted of attempted manslaughter in 1973 and of robbery in 1972. Mr. Joseph also has been identified by an eyewitness as having taken part in a Brink's armored-car robbery in the Bronx last June in which a guard was killed, Mr. Martin said.

9 Suspects in Custody

Mr. Ferguson was convicted of armed robbery in Pittsburgh in 1977 and also was identified as a participant in an armored-car robbery in Inwood, N.Y., in March 1980, Mr. Martin said.

With yesterday's arrests, nine suspects in the Rockland robbery and shooting are in custody. Another suspect, Samuel Smith, was killed in a shootout in Queens three days after the robbery. Seven of those in custody have been indicted for murder and robbery. Rockland County grand juries are awaiting pretrial hearings.

The seven who have been indicted are Donald Weems, Katherine Boudin, Judith A. Clark, David J. Gilbert, Nathaniel Burns, Anthony N. LaBorde and Samuel Brown.

Five other suspects in the case are still being sought, Mr. Walton said. One of them, Cynthia Boston, was arrested earlier and then released. The others being sought are Wendy Sue Heaton, William R. Johnson, Muhulu Shakur (whose given name is Gerald Williams) and Marilyn Jean Buck, who also has been indicted in Rockland County.

All of the suspects, Mr. Walton said, were adherents of various radical organizations dating back over the decade, including the Weather Underground, the Black Liberation Army, the Republic of New Afrika and the May 19th Communist Organization.

'Confidential Information'

Mr. Walton said "confidential source information" had led to the arrests of Mr. Joseph and Mr. Ferguson. The two had been under surveillance for about two weeks by the Joint Terrorism and Bank Robbery Task Forces of the F.B.I. and the Police Department, he said.

The Federal complaint against Mr. Joseph cites two confidential informants as "CS 1" and "CS 3." CS 1 was described as having "personally participated in the October 20th robbery and escapes," and CS 3 was described as "present during the planning of the October 20th robbery, and knowingly assisted and harbored some of the perpetrators after the robbery."

Kenneth P. Walton, deputy assistant director for the F.B.I. in New York, announcing arrest yesterday of two men sought in Brink's robbery. At left was Patrick J. Murphy, chief of operations for city's Police Department.

CARLINE DONOFF/DAILY NEWS

Since '69, rebel without a pause

By RON HOWELL and MARCIA KRAMER

She was an admirer of violence, who went "underground" in December 1969 to plot a nationwide terrorist bombing campaign aimed at bringing down the system. She became a fugitive three months later, after an explosion ripped through a Greenwich Village townhouse used as a Weather Underground bomb factory.

Few who knew Katherine Boudin were surprised yesterday that her nearly 12-year scramble to avoid the law had ended in violence. She was nabbed in the furious manhunt that followed the murder of two policemen and an armored-car guard in Tuesday's $1.8 million Rockland County Brink's heist.

Police intelligence sources said yesterday that her odyssey took her to Canada, Moscow and Manhattan, where she reportedly managed a clandestine meeting with Patty Hearst and members of the Symbionese Liberation Army. Police said that Boudin, Judith Clark and others arrested in the robbery are members of a new and even more violent cell of the old Weather Underground, called the May 19 Coalition.

Clark, a former member of Students for a Democratic Society, reportedly lived for the last two years on W.

98th St., sharing an apartment with three other women and two children, including her 7-month-old baby.

Boudin's career is hardly what would have been expected from a girl whose father is noted civil liberties lawyer Leonard Boudin and whose brother clerked for U.S. Supreme Court Justice John Marshall Harlan.

Kathy—born in New York on May 18, 1943—majored in Russian literature and language at Bryn Mawr College. In her senior year, she lived in Moscow and Leningrad, reportedly becoming as disillusioned with the Soviet Union as she was with the U.S. government.

According to her early writings, she wanted to build a movement that would attack the U.S. legal system—including "courts, grand juries, legislative committees and the ideology itself" and "the imperialist state."

After college, she worked for three years in Cleveland as a "community organizer." She demonstrated during the 1968 "Days of Rage" at the Democratic National Convention in Chicago, where she was arrested for setting off a stink bomb. In 1969, she joined with Bernardine Dohrn, Mark Rudd and other members of the SDS to urge an armed struggle, and she went to Cuba with five other SDS members to meet Vietcong and North Vietnamese representatives.

Law enforcement sources say she spent much of the last 12 years in Moscow.

A '60s link to Ohio?

Say Boudin, roomie were activists

Captured Weather Underground member Kathy Boudin, her former roommate, reporter Rita Jensen, and Jensen's lawyer all were involved in civil rights activities in Ohio in the late 1960s, a published report said yesterday.

The Stamford (Conn.) Advocate, which employs Jensen, said Boudin worked as a "community organizer involved in civil rights activities" in Cleveland from 1966 to 1969. Boudin was among those arrested in the $1.6 million Brink's armored car robbery last week in Rockland County.

Jensen was born and raised in Columbus, Ohio. In addition to her civil rights activities, she was, for a period in the early 1970s, involved in women's rights activities, the paper said. Jensen is now on a leave of absence.

Jensen's attorney, Martin Stolar, also lived in Columbus in the late 1960s, and worked with the National Emergency Civil Liberties Committee, which was founded by Boudin's father, lawyer Leonard Boudin.

The extent that the three worked with each other was not revealed.

Copter jailbreak plot believed linked to Chesimard escape

By VINCENT LEE and MARK LIFF

The daring and intricate helicopter escape attempt foiled last Sunday at the Metropolitan Correctional Center is believed to have been the original backup jailbreak plan for convicted cop-killer and Black Liberation Army member Joanne Chesimard, informed sources told the Daily News yesterday.

Chesimard, 33, was convicted for the 1973 shooting death of a New Jersey state trooper. She escaped Nov. 2, 1979, from that state's Clinton Correctional Center for Women, with the aid of three men.

Last week, FBI agents arrested Thomas McCreary, a 36-year-old ex-con and Legal Aid Society worker, on charges of hijacking the helicopter that was used in the bungled attempt to spring a pal from the federal prison in lower Manhattan. McCreary was convicted of charges stemming from a 1972 shootout with a St. Louis cop and, at the time, was apprehended with the gun of a New York City cop who was killed by the Black Liberation Army a few months earlier, sources said.

Also involved in the St. Louis shooting was Henry Brown, a Black Liberation Army member who was indicted and acquitted in the murders of two New York City cops, Rocco Laurie and Gregory Foster, investigators said.

"SEVERAL THINGS in this contingency plan indicate that it could have been Joanne Chesimard's (backup)—namely her known link with McCreary and the need to quickly get her from the state," one investigator said. "If she stayed in New Jersey, she knew that the state police would get her."

Two other persons, identified by federal investigators as Dianne Becker and Bonna Quigley, are wanted in connection with the escape attempt. One investigator said that Becker had connected McCreary with Robert Wyler—believed to have been the quarry in the copter escape try—who allegedly promised that he could "set up McCreary for life" because he "had money stashed all over."

Police believe that if the helicopter assailants had used a stronger bolt-cutter, they would have been able to cut through the cable-mesh fence on the roof of the federal prison, where Wyler was exercising.

More than a year ago, investigators raided McCreary's Brooklyn apartment in connection with another case and uncovered the daring escape plan, sources said.

THE

STATEMENT BY
THE PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT OF THE REPUBLIC OF NEW AFRIKA
REGARDING THE ARREST OF FULANI SUNNI ALI,
CHAIRWOMAN OF THE PEOPLE'S CENTER COUNCIL
OF THE REPUBLIC OF NEW AFRIKA

ISSUED ON BLACK SOLIDARITY DAY, November 2, 1981

October 27, 1981 at 6:00 a.m., approximately 200 combat-ready agents of the United States FBI armed with four tanks, two helicopters, automatic weapons, rifles and pistols converged on the residence of the Provisional Government of the Republic of New Afrika in Gallman, Mississippi. This heavily armed band of United States terror troops used its grotesque display of military might to confront twelve Black children (ages 9 months to 12 years), a sixty-two-year-old grandfather, and two Black mothers at a children's camp site of the Provisional Government of the Republic of New Afrika.

One of the women present was Sister Fulani Sunni Ali. Sister Fulani is the mother of five children, an outstanding vocalist, the director of the children's camp and school, and the chairwoman of the People's Center Council of the Provisional Government of the Republic of New Afrika (P.G.R.N.A.). All of the occupants of the house were awakened and herded off at gunpoint at the early hour of 6:00 a.m. Everyone was handcuffed with the exception of two infants. They were spared because the FBI had no handcuffs small enough. The children and two of the adults were subsequently released. Sister Fulani Sunni Ali remained in the house. She is being held on totally fabricated charges which attempt to connect her to a Brink's car incident which allegedly occurred thousands of miles away from Fulani in New York State.

The FBI have produced absolutely no evidence that Fulani Sunni Ali was involved in any way whatsoever with the Brink's car episode. Despite a blatant lie by the FBI claiming to have seized a house full of guns, the FBI was unable to find a single gun in the entire house which connected Fulani to

3. The FBI, CIA, and other United States agencies, and the president of the United States government itself has waged a secret war against the Provisional Government of the Republic of New Afrika and other Black Liberation formations for over ten years. Documented evidence of the illegal and secret aggression, and attempts to disrupt, destroy, and discredit the Provisional Government and the Black Liberation Movement has appeared in hundreds of thousands of secret memos disclosed since the Watergate incident. Attacks on the Provisional Government by large mobs of FBI agents or local police in Detroit in 1969, and Jackson, Mississippi in 1971 have been major parts of this war. In both of these instances heavily armed bands of U.S. terror troops fired hundreds of rounds at New Afrikan men, women, and/or children. In each instance large massacres of Black human beings were narrowly averted by the timely defensive actions of Provisional Government security personnel.

4. The Provisional Government has at no time initiated or participated in any terrorist activity. It has also not participated in any armed attacks on U.S. police or state and local police. It has exercised its right to defend itself when attacked and fully intends to continue this practice in the future. It is a practice which has literally saved the lives of more than a hundred Black men, women, and children in the Detroit New Bethel incident in 1969, and saved the lives of five Black men and two women (one six months pregnant) in August of 1971 in the RNA-11 incident in Jackson, Mississippi.

5. In most instances where the U.S. war against the Provisional Government has erupted into armed FBI and police attacks, these attacks have cost some of the

This special edition of Death to the Klan is issued in solidarity with the Black Liberation struggle and all revolutionary and progressive forces who are the targets of terroristic attack. We call on all progressive people to take a stand on the side of these forces and to fight against the violence and terror which has been unleashed against them.

On November 5, 1981, the Black Liberation Army issued a communique which said that Black Revolutionary Freedom Fighters and North American Anti-Imperialists have formed an alliance under the leadership of the Black Liberation Army and that the alliance, the Revolutionary Armed Task Force, was responsible for attempting to expropriate $1.6 million from an armored Brinks truck. The full text of this communique appears in this Special Edition.

The Brinks robbery of October 20, 1981, in Nyack, N.Y., was the occasion for the u.s. government to seize four comrades and to launch a search and destroy operation against revolutionary and progressive forces in this country. Four comrades—Samuel Brown, Judith Clark, Kathy Boudin, and David Gilbert—were seized in Nyack, and now face murder charges. Leaders and members of the Black Liberation Army have been portrayed as criminals and terrorists. On Oct. 23, New African Freedom Fighter Mtayari Shabaka Sundiata (Sam Smith) was murdered by the NYPD as he lay disarmed and wounded. On the same day, New African Freedom Fighter Sekou Odinga (Nathanial Burns) was put in prison where he has been beaten and tortured savagely. Members of the Black Liberation Army have been portrayed as criminals and terrorists.

Habeas Corpus filed by the defendants was originally suspended on the order of the head administrative judge for "security reasons." Such action has only been taken three times since the Civil War. The Anti-Springbok 5 have taken a principled stand against releasing the names, and as a result were illegally held at Riker's Island under "punitive detention" for over a month.

Eve Rosahn, who is one of the Anti-Springbok 5 and a member of the Committee for the Suit Against Government Misconduct, is being framed-up as an accomplice in the Brink's robbery. Eve has worked to expose the government's domestic subversive program, COINTELPRO, and has been a longtime public supporter of the Black liberation struggle. The raids on her house and her mother's house, her arrest by 15 heavily armed cops, her arraignment without a lawyer, her confinement in isolation at first with no bail and then with bail set at $250,000, her malignment in the media, her indictment by the Grand Jury and her citation for contempt by a second Grand Jury, are clear attempts to intimidate progressive people from doing public political work in support of liberation forces.

The national dragnet of repression, frame-ups, torture, beatings, and illegal break-ins are part of an overall strategy of genocide under the guise of "fighting terrorism." Two Grand Juries to investigate the Brinks case—one in Rockland County and one in Manhattan—have been impaneled. An important part of the current offensive. The government has also used Grand

Four avowed "revolutionaries" were sentenced to prison terms ranging up to 40 years yesterday on charges that included taking part in a bungled $1.6 million Brink's heist and a commando-style jailbreak that freed radical leader Joanne Chesimard.

Amid courtroom taunts from black separatist supporters, former Black Panther Sekou Odinga, 39, and Weather Underground supporter Silvia Baraldini, 35, were each sentenced to 40 years for conspiracy and racketeering.

Manhattan Federal Court Judge Kevin Duffy sentenced two others.

Cecil Ferguson, 36, and Edward Joseph, 31, to 12½ years each on accessory charges. All sentences were the maximum allowed by law.

All four were convicted last Sept. 3 in a string of armed robberies, including the bungled Rockland County Brink's heist in which two Nyack cops and a Brink's guard were killed. Odinga and Baraldini were convicted of springing Chesimard from a New Jersey jail in 1978.

Former Weather Underground leader Kathy Boudin, 40, and ex-convict Samuel Brown, 43, are facing charges in the Brink's case in a state trial in White Plains. Jury selection in that case continued yesterday. A pool of 342 potential jurors was screened and 62 said they were willing to serve and will return at a later date for intensive questioning.

Odinga, formerly known as Nathaniel Burns, and Baraldini made defiant speeches in which they proclaimed themselves as revolutionaries and freedom fighters.

"AS A FREEDOM fighter, I am a prisoner of war," Odinga said. "Down with U.S. imperialism, colonialism, racism and U.S. facism. And in a personal note, Duffy, down with you."

Duffy immediately imposed the maximum sentence and recommended that Odinga serve all of it.

Odinga then shouted at Duffy: "Rub it on your chest, sucker."

Baraldini, a member of the May 19 Communist Organization, blasted the government for using "traitors" to convict her and her cohorts.

"Who we are is revolutionaries," she said. "We have the courage to act and live on our own principles. History will decide who are the real criminals."

Rage over girl's death

By CLINT ROSWELL
and STUART MARQUES

One day after a 12-year-old Bronx girl was killed by a car and her older sister was critically injured while taking a shortcut home from school across the New England Thruway, more than 50 angry parents vowed yesterday to keep their kids home from school until a bus strike is settled.

The parents blamed the 59-day-old strike against the private New York Bus Service for the death of Angelique Hoey and the injury of her sister, Lynnette, 13, of Bivona St. in the Boston-Secor Houses near Co-op City.

Both girls attended Pablo Casals Intermediate School 181.

Lynnette remained in critical condition last night at Jacobi Hospital.

School officials said the students have not been receiving normal bus transportation to the school because of a drivers' strike. Company officials declined comment on the accident.

"PEOPLE ARE VERY angry, very upset," said one of the demonstrators, Carmen Andrin. "We are not going to be sending our children back until the strike is over."

School Principal Joseph Petrella said there would be no penalties against students who miss school because of the strike.

"I have no doubt in my mind that these girls would be alive today if there were no bus strike," Petrella said, vowing to march "shoulder to shoulder" with the protesting parents.

The girls were hit by a car driven by Hiram Albaladejo, 32, of E. 172d St., Bronx, at about 2:30 p.m. Tuesday near the Co-op City Blvd. exit.

They were knocked into the southbound lanes, where they were hit by an oncoming car driven by Donald Holzer, 44, of Uniondale, L.I.

Police said the girls had taken a shortcut through a hole in a fence to cross the Thruway, rather than take an overpass walkway a half-block away.

Identifies Brink's plotters

Used her apt. to plan heist: fugitive's girl

By ROBERT CARROLL and RICHARD SISK

A girlfriend of fugitive radical Mutulu Shakur, who allegedly masterminded the October 1981 Brink's robbery in Rockland County, testified yesterday that Shakur and other radicals regularly used her Mount Vernon apartment as a meeting place to plot the Brink's heist and other crimes.

The surprise witness, Sandra Margaret Mitchell, testified in Manhattan Federal Court that the alleged plotters displayed guns, holsters, ammunition, bulletproof vests and wigs—the last item apparently intended for disguises.

Five of the six defendants are charged with a racketeering conspiracy based on their alleged involvement in the bungled Brink's robbery and other crimes. The sixth defendant is charged with helping some suspects avoid arrest.

MITCHELL SINGLED out three of the defendants—Edward L. Joseph, Cecil Ferguson and Silvia Baraldini—as visitors to her apartment. Another visitor she identified from photographs shown her by federal prosecutor Robert Litt was Cheri Dalton, also a fugitive in the Brink's case.

The other defendants are Sekou

Odings, Bilal Sunni-Ali and Iliana Robinson.

On the night of the Brink's robbery, Mitchell testified, Dalton appeared at the apartment and told her, "Things went bad." Mitchell said she was given clothing to get rid of. Two days later, she said, Shakur appeared "and told me I wouldn't be seeing him for a while. He said Chui (Ferguson) got away into the woods."

Mitchell said she found a handgun and ammunition hidden under her daughter's crib in February 1981 and a bulletproof vest that had been stashed under her own mattress in March 1982. She said the items had been placed there without her knowledge and that she gave the vest to federal agents who went to her apartment to question her in July 1982.

SHE ALSO TESTIFIED that Shakur wanted her to become more involved in the radical group by alerting him to possible robbery targets and serving as a lookout.

She said she refused, although she was sympathetic to his black separatist political ideology.

"Being a black person, I understood where he was coming from, but I wasn't actively involved in his politics," she said.

Asked why she let Shakur use her apartment, she said, "We were friends."

Under cross-examination, she said she agreed to cooperate with the FBI out of fear of being jailed and separated from her infant daughter.

Mitchell was the latest of nearly 100 people who have testified during the four-month trial before Judge Kevin Thomas Duffy.

A GOVERNMENT informer, Tyrone Rison, testified earlier that five of the six defendants were members of a radical group called the Family that was responsible for killings, armed robberies and the escape of reputed terrorist leader Joanne Chesimard from a New Jersey prison.

In the state's case against three Brink's suspects who are on trial in upstate Goshen, screening of prospective jurors on their ability to serve ended yesterday with formation of a pool of 79 citizens from which a panel of 12 and four alternates will be picked.

POLICE ARMED with shotguns and wearing bulletproof vests were part of airtight security measures today for the start of the trial of three radicals charged with the bloody Brink's armored car heist.

The self-styled revolutionaries are charged with murder and robbery in the bungled 1981 holdup that left two police officers and a security guard dead.

Jury selection began this morning in the heavily-guarded courthouse in the sleepy town of Goshen in upstate Orange County.

About 400 prospective jurors are to be called, said Rockland County District Attorney Kenneth Gribetz, who will prosecute the case.

Gribetz said the security was "extensive and ample."

Officials refused to reveal the number of police and other guards assigned to the trial detail.

Nearly $3 million has been spent on security and other expenses in preparation for the trial.

Shotgun-toting cops in SWAT-style gear are covering the scene and everyone entering the courthouse is subject to search.

An appellate court ordered the trial moved to Orange County in December after finding pre-trial publicity made it difficult for the defendants to get a fair trial in Rockland.

On trial are Weather Underground members David Gilbert, 39, Judith Clark, 33, and Black Liberation Army member Donald Weems, 36.

The three are the first to go on trial on state charges in the Oct. 20, 1981, slayings and robbery in Rockland County.

They are expected to defend themselves, but will have lawyers as advisers.

Three others face state charges in the robbery, but their trials have been separated for various reasons.

A seventh suspect is still at large.

A Brink's guard was killed in the robbery at the Nanuet shopping mall and two police officers were slain in a shootout with the fleeing suspects at a roadblock in nearby Nyack.

The $1.6 million loot was recovered.

Officials say the heist was planned and executed by remnants of various radical groups knit together into what the FBI called a "family" of black and white terrorists.

Their slogan is "Free the Land" and they call themselves freedom fighters and political prisoners.

The scheduled start of the trial comes at the same time five people are on trial in Manhattan Federal Court, on conspiracy and racketeering charges stemming from the federal investigation of the holdup.

One of the other defendants in the state case is Kathy Boudin, 40, the Weather Underground fugitive, who vanished in 1970 after fleeing naked from an explosion of a Greenwich Village townhouse used by radicals as a bomb factory.

Orange County Judge David Ritter last week granted a request by Miss Boudin's lawyers that she be tried separately.

She will be tried in October with another defendant, Samuel Brown, 42.

Each defendant faces up to 25 years to life if convicted of murdering Brink's guard Peter Paige and Nyack police Officers Waverly Brown and Edward O'Grady.

shotgun. The action team loaded the dropped bags and other bags from the opened armored truck to the U-Haul truck. Four to six (B.L.A.) members jumped into the truck as it roared off towards the Nyack entrance to the New York Thru-way. The "Expropriation" came apart. Police sirens roared before the U-Haul even exited the mall and spooked everyone. The getaway cars and crash cars missed their assignments. Kathy Boudin; A.K.A. "Ice Lady" because of her coolness under stress, lost it when two police cars pulled the truck over. If the crash cars and blocking cars were in proper position, then the back-up team still could have overpowered the three pigs and escaped with all the money.

The police cars heard the robbery report and description over the police radio, and drew up to the truck cautiously, shotguns and revolvers at the ready. Boudin came out of the cab of the truck with hands up screaming, "Don't shoot, don't shoot", to the detective who was holding an empty shotgun. The uniformed officer tried to open the rear of the U-Haul but couldn't. The sergeant was fooled by a white female driving the truck instead of a reported black male, and told the uniformed officer to put his shotgun away. As the officers retreated to their patrol-car, the rear doors of the U-Haul burst open and, in commando fashion, two (B.L.A.) members jumped to one side and two (B.L.A.) members jumped to the other. Samuel Brown opened up with his M.16 and cut down the uniformed officer and his sergeant, and shot the detective. Brown turned around, saw the wounded officer attempting to draw his weapon and crawl to cover, slapped in another clip of 30 rounds, and executed the fallen officer. More bullets hit near the detective as the other terrorists ran for the wooded area at the side of the road. Responding police cars spotted the carnage, searched the woods, and arrested Boudin as she raised her hands and screamed, "I didn't shoot, I didn't shoot!" Brown was found two days later coming out of the woods, as the three other gunmen made good their escape.

Judith Clark and David Gilbert were caught shortly after the shooting as Clark's yellow Honda sedan hit a concrete retaining wall and became disabled. Police approached them and found an automatic handgun, bullet proof vest, ski masks and canvas moneybags. The entire operation lasted 25 minutes. Within 45 minutes hastily prepared teams of police and F.B.I. agents were being formed after someone first identified one of them as a radical and then a slip of paper containing safehouse locations was subsequently found. The Yonkers and Bronx safe houses were hit. The (B.L.A.) had just abandoned them within minutes, but guns, ammunition, and at least a ton of meticulously kept records, were found. Although the entire group went underground two days later Nathaniel Burns was captured and Samuel Smith was killed in a Queens, New York highway shootout with police. Marilyn Buck accidentally shot herself in the thigh during the escape, but was treated by a doctor acquaintance of another (B.L.A.) member and eluded capture until May 11, 1985, when she and Linda Sue Evans, (M. 19 C.O.) were arrested a block away from their Ardsley, N.Y. safehouse. Four days after the shooting, National Guard tanks rolled up to the front of Cynthia Boston's farmhouse in Mississippi and she was arrested, but the F.B.I. missed her husband William Johnson A.K.A. Bilal Sumni-Ali (R.N.A.). He was eventually arrested in the Central American country of Belize on a narcotics charge and extradicted to the jurisdiction of the F.B.I. Although the police placed 14 members of the May 19th Communist Coalition at the scene they believe approximately 20 to 24 took part in the "Big Dance", and approximately 20 more were part of the conspiracy and getaway. When Marilyn Buck's, West New York, New Jersey safehouse was raided, a few days after the shootout, the F.B.I. found not only a ton of meticulously kept records, but well sketched floorplans of six New York City Police Department station houses. My station house was one of them.

Park Slope Radicals Keep Talking As Fed Grand Jury Probes Connections to Nyack Shootout

BY BRUCE YAIL

The bloody shootout between police and members of the Black Liberation Army in Nyack last fall has focused city-wide, and even national, attention on a small group of radicals who make their home in Park Slope.

The Moncada Library is familiar to many Park Slope residents as the group of ultra-leftists who are loudly charging that the Slope Citizens Anti-Crime Network (SCAN) is a virulently racist organization dedicated to driving blacks and Puerto Ricans out of the Slope.

But the Library's unqualified endorsement of the violent tactics of the Black Liberation Army (BLA) and other armed "revolutionary movements," and its connections to a group called the May 19 Communist Organization have brought it under the scrutiny of the city's major newspapers and a federal grand jury investigating the Nyack incident.

Moncada Library member Dana Biberman recently described the Library as a "project" of the May 19 Communist Organization. The May 19 Organization is a legal, above-ground arm of the BLA (many members of the BLA are being sought by police and therefore describe themselves as a revolutionary underground), seeking to rally support for BLA objectives and the objectives of other armed radical groups. Among the many armed organizations that receive moral support of the Moncada Library is the Fuerzas Armadas de Liberación Nacional (FALN), a Puerto Rican nationalist group that has claimed responsibility for a number of recent bombings in the New York area.

GRAND JURY TARGET

Support for these groups, both of which have been the targets of federal grand jury probes, and the Library's own fierce opposition to what they regard as the pervasive racism of American society and imperialist adventurism of the U.S. government, place the Library on the left-most fringe of the political spectrum.

And the left-most fringe is a dangerous place to be in the wake of the attempted robbery at Nyack, New York, according to Library members. Dana Biberman, in a special public meeting called late last month to respond to charges made in a series of news articles in the New York Post on the radical underground said: "The media has fully cooperated with the government and FBI disinformation strategies designed to equate the May 19 Organization and the Revolutionary Armed Task Force (the Task Force carried out the attempted robbery at Nyack). They are doing this so that we can be singled for repression as part of the government's program to eliminate the revolutionary movement."

Speaking in the group's 2nd floor library meeting hall on Fifth Avenue near 9th St., Biberman said, "The New York Post has tried to portray us as a violence prone sex cult that deserves to be stamped out. The New York Times series (the Times also published a number of articles on the May 19 Organization) was even more dangerous than the Post's because it implied that we are dangerous people who need to be watched. Media cooperation in whipping up hysteria and contributing to a repressive atmosphere has been evident ever since the attempted expropriation in Nyack."

NOT ROBBERY

Other library members explain that the Nyack incident is correctly termed an "attempted expropriation." The word, "robbery" deprives the Nyack gunplay of its political meaning, they say. According to Dana Biberman, the Revolutionary Armed Task Force was attempting to "expropriate" the "people's money" and the three men killed "were defending imperialism." In a chillingly clear exposition of the Library's thinking on violence, Biberman added: "People who defend imperialism do so from their own choice. That is a choice that they must live—or die—with."

This rhetoric alienates most people, including many who describe themselves as leftists.

PROBLEMS FOR LEFTISTS

The Moncada's staunch support for the Nyack incident poses special intellectual problems for many leftists. An editor of a respected, well-circulated Marxist weekly, characterized Moncada Library's politics as "bizarre and completely out of touch with reality." At the same time he refused

The Nyack incident is correctly termed an "attempted expropriation: The word "robbery" deprives the Nyack gunplay of its "political content," Library members say.

Groups the Library has embraced

Pursuit of these goals is made doubly difficult as the eyes of a federal grand jury dwell on this tiny group of dedicated communists. Library members who have pledged non-cooperation with the grand jury and others, like Eve Ksahn, could end up in prison too. Then the Library can add another cause to its list: getting its members out of jail.

STATEMENT BY
THE PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT OF THE REPUBLIC OF NEW AFRICA
REGARDING THE ARREST OF FULANI SUNNI ALI,
CHAIRWOMAN OF THE PEOPLE'S CENTER COUNCIL
OF THE REPUBLIC OF NEW AFRICA

...SUNDAY DAY, November 2, 1941

October 27, 1961 at 4:30 a.m., approximately 200 combat-ready agents of the United States FBI arrived with four tanks, two helicopters, automatic weapons, rifles and pistols converged on the residence of the Provisional Government of the U.S. in Richmond, Mississippi. This heavy display of force was aimed at the arrest of the following:

The FBI, CIA, and other United States agencies have taken the United States government itself has waged a secret war against the Black Liberation Movement of the Republic of New Africa and other Black Liberation movements for over ten years. Documented evidence of the illegal and secret war, and attempts to disrupt, destroy, and discredit the Provisional Government of the Republic of New Africa, and the Black Liberation Movement has appeared in the "Black Liberation Movement" and the "Black Liberation Movement" and the "Black Liberation Movement".

...including The New York Times, which has published editorial articles on the subject.

Library members are incensed by the New York Post's sensational articles on the May 18 Organization. To them, the establishment press, including The New York Times, is a "Tool of racist oppression."

How Other Left Groups See the Issues

Guardian writer John Trinkl traced the origins of the Moncada Library and its parent group, the May 19 organization, from its roots in the anti-Vietnam war movement: "When the Weatherman faction of the Students for a Democratic Society went underground they put out a

"The Committee was never very large and was based primarily in New York and San Francisco. In the mid-70s the Committee split and the East Coast group became the May 19 Organization. May 19 has since established a number of related organizations, among them the Moncada Library and the John Brown Anti-Klan Committee." Trinkl said that May 19 takes its name from the birthdates of Vietnamese leader Ho Chi Minh and black nationalist leader Malcolm X. The name was chosen to indicate the group's support for Third World revolutionary movements and the black nationalist movement within the U.S., Trujil said. The name Moncada Library is taken from the Moncada Barracks, a former military post in Cuba that was the site of a battle between Fidel Castro's rebel army and the forces of the former non-communist Cuban government. —B.V.

On Oct. 22, 1981, a detective from the Arson and Bomb Squad called and dropped by my office to receive a 3 hour briefing and a reproduction of my records as I was the only person with an updated file on the May 19th Communist Organization. Seven days later the "Joint Terrorist Task Force", consisting of the Police Department and the F.B.I. formed and, while the Task Force fanned out with copious pieces of information from the ton of safehouse records, I continued to gather my information as no one else was interested in the lowly yeomans duty.

On Feb. 11, 1982, I spotted a pamphlet on a side wall of a building and recorded the information. On the bottom it read simply, "Come to a Conference Against Repression, May 29, Denver, Colorado." I reported it. Denver ---- Denver ---- Denver is the center point between Chicago and San Francisco/Los Angeles. University of Colorado ---- Weather Communes ---- stolen explosives --- S.D.S. -- Aztlen. Three weeks later ---- Bingo! I spotted the large poster slapped over some others on a rainy day. It stripped off the wall easily enough and it said it all! The picture showed the separations of the U.S. as depicted by Aztlan, the Republic of New Africa and the (F.A.L.N.) with informational addresses, and telephone numbers of May 19th Communist Organization Front Groups. I drew a map of the United States with the major May 19th Communist Coalition locations and groups associated with them. Lastly, I added two arrows indicating the suspected routes used, by the Cuban D.G.I., when it secreted agents and money into the U.S. It was called "Plan Bravo", and suggested that domestic terrorism was severely limited or impossible at its' present scale without foreign support. I submitted copies of the poster, map, and report, and it was received with a Haw Haw Haw by Det. Hennigan of our Intelligence Division. Weeks later I visited the Joint Terrorist Task Force office and chatted with Agent Gonzonles and explained that under the present circumstances, the May 19th C.O. needed more concrete support, and networking for future activities. This conference could be used to reestablish old ties from the (S.D.S.) days, weed out suspected informers, enlist friendly groups to become support groups, lay down proposals for joint efforts, and meet again to critique the efforts and possibly plan larger scale operations if security was tight enough and all were satisfied with a united front. Agent Gonzales agreed to send an agent plus two N.Y. City Police Detectives, I think to placate me more than anything else, and on June 4th, the men returned from Denver. Although they couldn't penetrate the meetings during the May 28-May 30 conference, they confirmed my suspicions by other means.

Stretched thin since so many leaders were again underground or jailed, the Moncada Library closed up July 1982, so Bill Ayers and Eleanor Stein (Raskin) of the (M.19 C.O.) arranged a small number of future meetings at the Park Slope Food Coop, which was controlled by the Trotskyist "Workers World Party", and the Communist "All Peoples Congress" groups. The May 19th C.O. brought another front under its wing, the "Congolese National Liberation Front" (C.N.L.F.), a group of about five blacks under the leadership of Octavia G. Earle, in order to enlist blacks into the group. There were no takers.

In Oct. 1982, another flier indicated a connection between the (May 19th C.O.) and the two Mexican groups "Comite de Defensa Popular" (C.D.P.) and the "Movimiento de Liberation Nacional", (M.L.N.). Another indicator of a Plan "Bravo". 20

One day in June 1982, an F.B.I. agent dropped by my office and in the course of our conversation he pulled a sheet of paper out, showed me an unlabeled drawing with 3 x's on it. "What do you make of it; we got this at Buck's safe house". It was a neat street-site map of the immediate vicinity of the closed-up "Liberator" Bookstore, complete with front door, the one window, counter, and two rear bookshelves. The first x was just inside the door at a good firing angle to hit most areas inside the storefront. The second and third x were just off 5th Ave. on each side of the avenue at Dean St. These were backup and covering positions for an escape on foot, and gave the shooter an option of running straight along 5th Ave. to Flatbush Ave., and an easy escape to an auto waiting across the busy avenue, or a run up or down Dean St. if he or she had to. Anyone running after him passes within feet of the backup man, and can be easily picked off at point-blank range. The F.B.I. agent was amazed at my knowledge of the precinct environs and instantly my head grew two sizes larger.

Next came Nassau County Police Det. Ahearn, asking me about a new rash of simultaneous bombings that hit South African Airways and an R.O.T.C. building in Nassau along with Motorola (supplies our Police Department with walkie-talkies), in Queens, New York, and an I.B.M. installation in Westchester County. "Who could have done it?" I had recently uncovered a new group associated with Communist "South Brooklyn Action Movement" called the "South African Military Refugee Aid Fund", but told him that I didn't think they had the expertize for bomb making. Willie Morales of the F.A.L.N. was underground and so were most of the F.A.L.N. just then due to some multiple indictments, and the May 19th Communists were either underground or confined for trial. The Black Liberation Army didn't have the expertize either. I postulated; some group, either the All Peoples Congress, or the (May 19th C.O.), organizations with the required number of dedicated individuals to plant four bombs almost simultaneously; may have contracted a bomb expert to make them, then the group would plant the bombs. As it turned out, I was close. The "Sam Melville-Jonathan Jackson Brigade", an autonomous (W.U.) cell loyal to the (M 19 C.O.), that specialized in bombing and operating in Vermont, New Hampshire, Ohio and Pennsylvania, were captured on Nov. 4, 1984 ending some 17 bombings, after the "Nanuet Brinks shootout."

USE EXTREME CAUTION — SUBJECTS WILL RESIST ARREST

All subjects have numerous fictitious identifications and carry automatic weapons.

Their capture came as a result of a search of a (May 19th C.O.) safehouse some weeks before. Recent arrests of (May 19th C.O.) members in New Jersey had also centered around them transporting large quantities of dynamite and caps. In my opinion, the (May 19th C.O.) had been penetrated because the members of the (S.M.-J.J.B.), were themselves extremely security conscious and professional, and not likely to make mistakes allowing their capture.

My family and I vacationed in the Februarys of 1981 and 1983 in Washington, D.C., and while there I found and conferred with Mr. Max Friedman, a contributing editor for "Human Events" newspaper and the "American Sentinel" newsletter. Self motivated, Mr. Friedman infiltrated a number of communist run anti-war organizations during the late 1960s, acquired large amounts of material and witnessed various conversations and meetings that later were valuable to the government when Mr. Friedman testified before the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee. See "Extent of Subversion in Campus Disorders; Testimony of Max Phillip Friedman"-SJUC 8/12/69.

With the understanding that I could not give him certain sensitive information pertaining to the May 19th Communist Organization, we proceeded to debrief each other and exchanged some interesting material. Upon returning to New York City after the 1983 vacation, I immediately contacted Lt. McTanny to inform him that I had contacted and received the cooperation of Mr. Friedman. "Oh no! He could be a double - agent --- hold him at a distance!" After reporting to the Lieutenant the highlights of our conversation and my visit to the Senate Subcommittee on Terrorism, where I picked up much of my Bibliography for this paper, I was again chastened not to get too friendly with Max Friedman. With my tail between my legs, I proceeded to record the information from Max's pamphlets and a day or two later telephoned some information into the Intelligence Division pertaining to the U.S.S. Intrepid,

THE "SAM MELVILLE/JONATHAN JACKSON BRIGADE" A.K.A. "UNITED FREEDOM FRONT" ARRESTED FOR THE MURDER OF A NEW JERSEY STATE TROOPER. NOV. 1984

Three nabbed in '81 slaying of highly decorated N.J. cop

Cleveland (UPI)—An accused terrorist indicted in the 1981 slaying of one of New Jersey's most highly decorated state troopers and two associates" wanted for questioning in that killing were among five people rounded up in Ohio by police and FBI agents yesterday.

Those arrested are associates" in the Sam Melville-Jonathan Jackson Unit, New England-based revolutionary group that has claimed responsibility for several bombings in that region and finances its activities through bank robberies, FBI spokesman said.

The organization, which reportedly was formed in the late 1960s, has been linked to the 1976 bombing of the Suffolk County Courthouse in Boston, which injured 21 people, and a series of armed car and bank robberies, five of them in 1983.

Arrested at a west side Cleveland home was Richard

Charles Williams, 36, of Beverly, Mass., who has been indicted in the December 1981 murder of much-decorated Trooper Philip Lamomaco, whose honors included being named New Jersey State Trooper of the Year in 1979.

ARRESTED WITH Williams were Jean Karl Laman, 35, a West German native wanted for questioning in Lamomaco's slaying and in connection with a 1982 shootout with Massachusetts state police, and Barbara Courzi, 26, who was charged with harboring fugitives. Raymond Luc Levasseur, 38, of Maine, who has been on the FBI's Most Wanted list since 1977 and was wanted for questioning in Lamomaco's slaying, was arrested along with his wife, Patricia Gros, after police pulled their car over near Deerfield, about 40 miles southeast of Cleveland, FBI spokesman John Dunn said. Lamomaco, 32, the father of three children, was shot dead after stopping a car on Interstate 80 four miles east of the Delaware Water Gap. A blood-stained, bullet-riddled vehicle was found abandoned about three miles from the site of the shooting, but despite a massive manhunt no arrests had been made in the case until yesterday.

Levasseur was put on the FBI's Most Wanted list in May 1977 and is also wanted for bank robbery and unlawful interstate flight. Gros was charged with harboring a fugitive.

Police and the FBI were still seeking Thomas Manning, 38, of Boston, who is also under indictment for Lamomaco's murder. Manning is on the Most Wanted list and is wanted in Maine for several bank robberies.

OFFICIALS SAID Manning and his wife were believed to be driving a blue van with Ohio or Pennsylvania license plates.

TIE SUSPECTS TO BOMBINGS

By MURRAY WEISS and DON GENTILE

Two fugitives arrested yesterday in connection with the slaying of New Jersey State Trooper Philip Lamomaco are suspected by the FBI of being at the heart of the mysterious United Freedom Front, the terrorist group responsible for as many as 17 bombings here and in the nation's capital, the Daily News learned.

A third fugitive still being sought in the trooper's slaying also is believed to be part of the UFF leadership.

The United Freedom Front has claimed credit for, among other attacks, a bomb that rocked the Capitol in Washington on Nov. 7, 1983; an explosion at the General Electric Corp. office in Melville, L.I., last Aug. 22; and two explosions Sept. 26, one at the South African Consulate on Park Ave., the other at the Union Carbide headquarters in Westchester.

The two arrested in Cleveland yesterday were identified as Richard Charles Williams, 38, of Massachusetts, and Raymond Luc Levasseur,

38, of Portland, Maine.

Both men have been linked to a New England radical organization known as the Sam Melville-Jonathan Jackson Unit, a group responsible for bank robberies and bombings of corporate offices and government buildings in Boston and Maine between the late 1960s and 1979.

A third member of that group, Thomas Manning, 38, of Maine, who is being sought in the Lamomaco killing, also is suspected of being part of the United Freedom Front leadership.

According to law enforcement sources, the three formed the United

Freedom Front with members of the May 19 Communist Organization. The May 19 group has strong links to the Weather Underground, including the convicted terrorists in the bungled 1981 Brink's robbery in Nyack. Two cops and a Brink's guard were slain in that attempt.

monaco's slaying, the previously unheard of United Freedom Front committed its first bombing, according to law enforcement sources. Since then, the organization, which opposes U.S. involvement in Central America, among other things, set off a string of 17 explosions, three in Washington and 14 here.

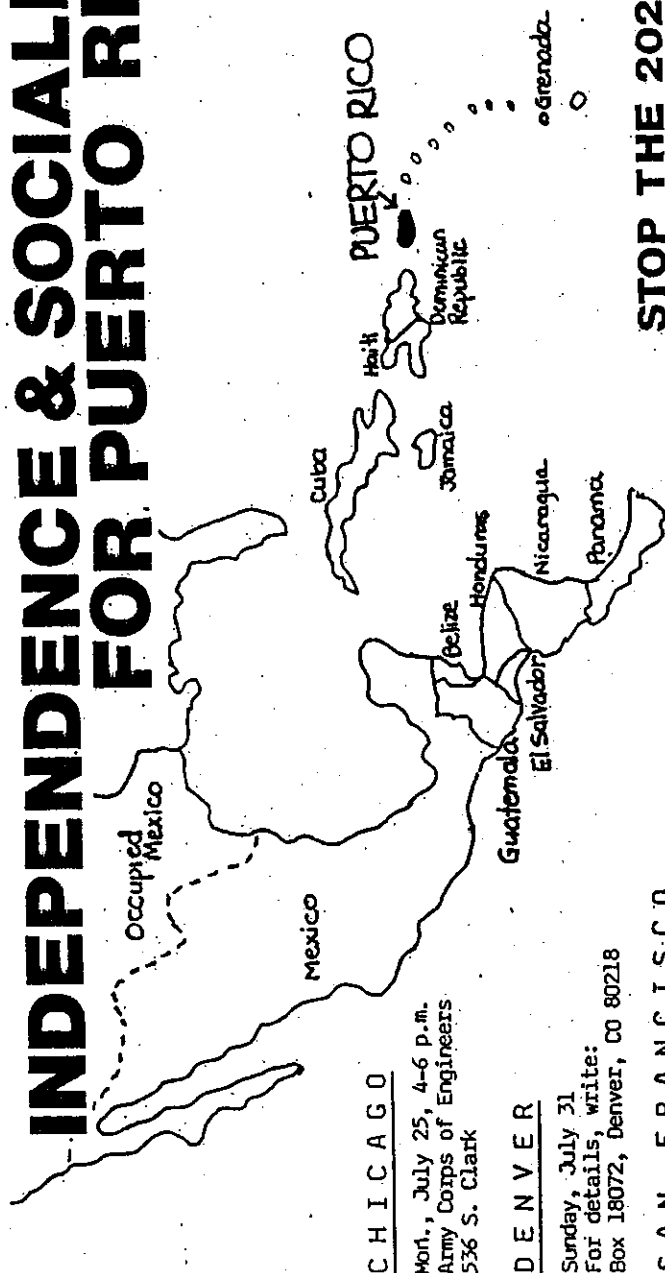

an aircraft carrier "museum", docked on the west piers of Manhattan. Twenty minutes after I hung up the telephone I was "Forthwithed" over to Intelligence Division Headquarters, debriefed and given an "At-A-Boy" for supplying a key piece of information that allowed the Police Department to prevent a certain "action" from being taken by the M. 19 C.O. against the proud old Intrepid. "But Lieutenant, I got that information from Max." "O.K.--- develop him." My head grew two more hat sizes.

The last group to surface to support the (May 19th C.O.) was the "Revolutionary Communist Command", A.K.A. the "New African Freedom Fighters", A.K.A. "The New York 8+". Since this group has twice been arrested for conspiring jailbreaks for Nathaniel Burns and Donald Weems in 1984, (and were caught with two UZI machine guns, 8.75 pounds of dynamite with blasting caps, 5 pistols and spare clips, 5 sawed-off shotguns, 3 rifles and thousands of rounds of ammunition) and Judith Clark in 1987. Judith Holmes and other N.L.G. and C.C.R. attorneys for the May 19th Communist Organization represent the East Flatbush, Brooklyn based Revolutionary Communist Command.

To date, the arrest of Dr. Alan Berkman of the (May 19th C.O. (New York) and Elizabeth Duke of the Austin, Texas (May 19th C.O.), in Bucks County, Pennsylvania in May, 1985 suggests again that the "hot" members of the May 19th Communist Organization are attempting to live anonymously underground until once again time passes, memories dim, witnesses die or move to parts unknown, and the cases against them die.

IX. Will 1989 be a Replay of 1969?

The "Protest Era" from 1963 through 1977 was a time of social change in America. The children of the "Great Depression" of the 1930s were the soldiers and "Rosey-the-Riveters" of World War II, the workers of the highly competitive 1950s and the financial successes of the 1960s and 1970s. As the population had shifted from the bedrock conservatism of rural America towards the impersonality of the large city, the American seemed to lose his dependence on religious doctrine for the flexibility of humanism. His self sufficiency switched to semi-dependency on institutions. He saw frauds and rationalization every day. Hey, that guy just got a tax free disability and last year got a real estate tax decrease, and he's 15 years younger than me, in better shape than me and has a bigger house than me, bought for by his inheritance; and he didn't go barefoot in the depression, or did what I did in "The War." Many Americans became cynical, due to the influence of liberal educators, politicians, "personalities" or a television and newsprint media that emphasized "advocacy journalism" over "investigative reporting." A person who broke the law no longer stood up and accepted the fact that he freely violated the law, because the law was (obsolete, irrelevant oppressive, or you name it). "Stan got a letter from his doctor and now is medically exempt from the draft. Why should my Johnny take his place?"

The Vietnamese "Conflict" brought straight to your dinner table, day after day after day, in living color could literally turn your stomach and demoralize you over a period of time. "Johnny is no genius but, by God, I'll make sure he goes to college now", or, "Didn't Johnny pull his knee last year during the championship game? ---HMMMMM."

We reject the legitimacy of any U.S. government investigation of the Puerto Rican Independence Movement. We will never collaborate with federal grand juries, the FBI, or any other investigation of revolutionary forces.

We support the growth of armed struggle both in Puerto Rico and in the U.S. The FALN (Armed Forces of National Liberation) represents a direct challenge to the U.S. war machine because it wages struggle within the imperialist center, carrying out over 100 actions against the military and multinational corporations. Parallel with the armed movement on the island and with the mass, public struggles, these actions are part of the development of a protracted people's war -- the same undefeated strategy that is today on the verge of victory in El Salvador. As Carmen Valentin, Puerto Rican Prisoner of War, has said, "One must fight wars to win peace, freedom and socialism."

DEMONSTRATE JULY 24 IN NEW YORK CITY

Most immediately, progressive people can demonstrate our support of the Puerto Rican Independence Struggle and our opposition to imperialist war by demonstrating at the U.S. Intrepid (46th and Westside Highway, New York City) on Sunday, July 24 at 3:00 p.m. The Intrepid is the most visible and well-known symbol of the U.S. military in New York City. July 25 will mark the 85th anniversary of the U.S. invasion of Puerto Rico in 1898. Join us and take a stand against U.S. colonialism in Puerto Rico.

The leadership of the 60s & 70s protesters in general and the S.D.S./W.U.O./May 19th C.O. in particular were the sons and daughter of the upper middle to wealthy class, depression reared, humanists or secularists who continued to subsidize his little social activist even after his arrest or the letter came from the Dean of Students or registrar, or his spaced-out behaviour became obvious.

Today, with the end of the draft, affirmative action quotas for minorities and females, social welfare "entitlement" programs, and an economy that is steadily progressing through relaxed controls on private industry, the issues simply don't exist for those who for what ever sincere or malevolent reasons, want to gather massive group support to overthrow our society through force or violence.

Our problems are just beginning, however, if our country's leadership vacillates against the tyrants and crazies of the world and confuses our national sense of right and wrong. At that time the Kathy Boudins', the Jeff Jones', the Bernadine Dohrns', the Kathy Wilkersons, the Eleanor Stein Raskins', the David Gilberts, the Judith Clarks, the Thomas Mannings, the Jeff Melishes, and the Eva Rosahns will pop up and will again assault our sensibilities, our confidence in our constitutional democratic-republic, and our will to resist the fascist/communist bear that occasionally swats at us with his sharp clawed paw.

X. Intelligence vs. the Constitution?

The Preamble of the Constitution states that this country's government was created to "---- establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity."

Our government has, therefore, failed when foreign powers covertly use American citizens and American groups to promote their interests; when citizens conspire against the government or their fellow citizens and use violence, terror and other illegal means to achieve their ends; when there is riot or mass disorder; or when crime is so rampant that the citizens fear to walk the streets.

Americans have a right to expect that police and all other government officials will always do all in their power to see that none of the above situations develop, to end them as soon as possible when they do, and prevent their recurrence. The Preamble's statement of this government's purposes clearly imposes a preventive role on all government institutions, especially those concerned with security and law enforcement. In doing so, it also unequivocally imposes intelligence-gathering obligations on them. Prevention is impossible without foreknowledge. ²¹

Intelligence is no more than knowledge, data, and facts about any given subject. It is the product of research which is universally recognized as the key to progress in all human endeavor - whether we are seeking a cure for AIDS, developing a pollution-free auto engine, or the answer to an internal security or national defense problem.

Federal and local security and police agencies are presently hamstrung from carrying out their preventative duties as implied in the Constitution. As of now, in the area of supposedly domestic radical groups, the police and F.B.I. can only keep an open investigation (meaning surveillance, infiltration and files), on a group after a criminal act has occurred and that it wasn't a wanton act of a person acting as an individual.

Credit for this can be given to attorney Frank Donner, an identified member of the Communist Party, who in 1970 launched the American Civil Liberties Union's "Political Surveillance Project", (in the capacity of research director.) This successful drive, consisting of a combination of research, litigation and legislative action. Within four years, 75 different types of lawsuits were submitted to various courts pertaining to such cases as preventing the C.I.A. from eliminating 200 passages containing classified information from Victor Marchetti and John Marks' book, "The C.I.A. and the Cult of Intelligence", preventing the C.I.A. and other agencies from collecting information about actress Jane Fonda's pro-enemy activities during her visit to North Vietnam, where she was photographed aiming an anti-aircraft gun, (supposedly at an American warplane); and a "Freedom of Information" suit compelling the C.I.A. and National ²² Security Council to reveal sensitive intelligence information to Morton Halperin, a former National Security Counsel staffer. The approximately 100 "Civil Liberties" lawyers included specialists from:

1. The "National Lawyers Guild", (N.L.G.) chief legal bulwark for the Communist Party and haven for ultra-radical lawyers.
2. The Center for Constitutional Rights (C.C.R.)
a N.L.G. offshoot formed by William Kunstler, Arthur Kinoy and Martin Stavis.

Besides the subject groups covered in this paper, the clients of this project were the Trotskyist Socialist Workers Party, the Maoist Progressive Labor Party, North Vietnam and North Korea support group called the White Panther Party, a Socialist Workers Party front called the National Peace Action Coalition, and the rival Communist front called the People's Coalition for Peace and Justice.

I cringed that day in 1973 when my Department, the New York City Police Department, announced that, with the assistance of the New York Civil Liberties Union, the three intelligence units, (organized crime, narcotics and public security), had destroyed 1,200,000 files, of which 80% or 1,000,000 were Public Security related, and would now form one Intelligence Division under one responsible commander. After the subsequent bombing of Fraunces Tavern (that killed 5 and wounded 50-plus people), in 1974, Brooks McClure of the Defense Department's Directorate of International Security Affairs testified before the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee that, after the bombing, the New York Police "were unable to get any kind of lead on the (F.A.L.N.) because they had destroyed the entire files on Puerto Rican suspects. McClure further testified that in April, 1975, the Chicago police had planned to penetrate the (F.A.L.N.) but took the men off the job at the last minute because they feared possible "public" criticism. In June and October, the (F.A.L.N.) claimed credit for a series of Chicago bombings.

1973 also saw:

- Baltimore police destroyed all their intelligence files on "activist groups.
- Texas Department of Public Safety destroyed all intelligence files from non-criminal investigations.
- Mayor of Los Angeles - seeing a "positive social change" had the police destroy almost 2,000,000 files. ²⁴

Give some thought to the above when you realize that between the years of 1964 through 1975, eight Presidential or National Commissions on the Assassination of President John F. Kennedy, (1963), on Law Enforcement and Administration of Justice (1967), on Crime in the District of Columbia (1967), on Civil Disorders (1968), on the Causes and Prevention of Violence (1969), on Campus Unrest (1970), on Criminal Justice Standards and Goals (1973), and the Domestic Counsel Drug Abuse Task Force (1975), all unanimously agreed that intelligence gathering by law enforcement agencies on all levels is essential to public safety and order and to the prevention and control of crime of all types.

One may disagree with some of the findings and recommendations of these bodies, but their work product represents about 10 years labor by close to 1,000 people representing a large variety of intellectual disciplines - doctors, lawyers, psychologists, clergymen, sociologists, intelligence experts, judges, prosecutors and law enforcement personnel of all types. Considering this and the fact that some of the commissions were considered to be basically liberal in orientation, their unanimity in stressing the importance of intelligence-gathering is all the more impressive. ²⁵

The National Commission on Criminal Justice Standards and Goals observed that the urban riots of the 60's raged as fiercely and long as they did at least in part because police intelligence in some of the affected cities was inadequate or non-existent. They therefore lacked the awareness of community conditions and were caught by surprise. The price for this intelligence failure was high - in addition to hundreds of deaths and thousands of injuries, property damage and destruction that ran into so many millions, no one has computed the total. The Commission on Civil Disorders concludes, "An intelligence unit staffed with full-time personnel should be established---it should use undercover police personnel and informants."

Likewise, the U.S. Supreme Court has consistently upheld the constitutionality of intelligence gathering and as Frank J. McNamara, a leading expert in internal security matters observed, that the Court has pointed out that -- "the watch which is kept over the community, as well as over this class of people (criminals), is more efficient than punishment of crimes after they have been committed." What we hear recently are decisions, not pertaining to the constitutionality of intelligence gathering, but the hair-splitting arguments pertaining to the methods and circumstances surrounding it, in an effort to hamstring the government's efforts by stringing together court decisions and agreements in such a fashion as to make it nearly impossible, and extremely expensive in terms of money and manpower, to initiate the intelligence operation in the first place. When an undercover agent surfaces to testify in a case, the media ignores his efforts and the possibility that his safety or life was often on the line. Instead the report covers the histrionics of the "civil liberties" attorney at the news conference, pans to the angry supporters and somehow the essence of the case has been replaced by charges of "frame-up"

ARRESTED 5/24/85

New York Doctor Held as Fugitive in Brink's Case

BY SELWYN RAAB
A New York City physician, on the hunt for two years since his indictment for treating suspects in the Brink's armored-car robbery and killings in Rockland County, has been arrested, the Federal Bureau of Investigation announced yesterday.
The doctor, Alan Berkman, who is 39 years old, was apprehended Thursday night by F.B.I. agents in Bucks County, Pa., near Philadelphia.
Dr. Berkman, who was arrested after his car was forced to the side of a road, had a loaded revolver in his lap and was wearing a woman's brown, curly wig, John L. Hogan, special agent in charge of the F.B.I. bureau in Philadelphia, said.
Arrested with Dr. Berkman was Elizabeth Duke, 44, of Austin, Tex. Mr. Hogan said Dr. Berkman and Miss Duke were members of the May 19 Communist Movement, which he described as a Marxist organization dedicated to overthrowing the United States Government.
Miss Duke, according to the F.B.I., also had a loaded revolver in her hand when agents stopped the car Dr. Berkman was driving.
"They both seemed stoical and hardly said a word when agents surrounded them and announced they were under arrest," James McIntosh, an F.B.I. agent in the Philadelphia bureau, said. "They offered no resistance."
An F.B.I. spokesman in New York City, Joseph A. Valliquette, said Dr. Berkman is being held in New York City.

New York Doctor Arrested in Brink's Case After 2 Years as Fugitive

Berkman had been traced through information obtained after the arrest on May 11 of Marilyn Jean Buck, another fugitive. Miss Buck had been indicted on charges of conspiracy and racketeering in the Brink's case.
One of the counts against Dr. Berkman accused him of having treated Miss Buck after the Brink's robbery. Miss Buck, 38, is believed to have accidentally shot herself in the leg while driving a getaway car after the robbery, according to the F.B.I.
Dr. Berkman is accused of having treated Miss Buck in a so-called safe house in Mount Vernon, N.Y.
Dr. Berkman has been wanted as a fugitive on a Federal warrant since Feb. 3, 1983, when he failed to show up for a hearing in Federal District Court in Manhattan. In November 1982, he was released on $25,000 bail after having been indicted by a Federal grand jury in Manhattan on charges of being an accessory after the fact in the Brink's case.
"Assistance and Comfort"
The $1.6 million robbery of a Brink's armored car and the fatal shootings of a guard in Nanuet, N.Y., and two police officers in Nyack, N.Y., occurred on Oct. 20, 1981. The F.B.I. said the crimes had been committed by political radicals who were members of the Black Liberation Army, the Black Panthers and the Weather Underground.
The indictment against Dr. Berkman charged him with "providing assistance and comfort" to people who had participated in the Brink's robbery to "hinder and prevent their apprehension, trial and punishment."
F.B.I. officials in New York and Philadelphia declined to specify what information obtained in the arrest of Miss Buck in Dobbs Ferry, N.Y., had led them to Dr. Berkman.
Mr. McIntosh, the agent in Philadelphia, said the F.B.I. had been alerted that fugitives sought in the case had rented a van from an agency in Philadelphia.
Held Without Bail
On Thursday a woman, later identified as Miss Duke, returned the van and was picked up at the rental agency in a 1981 blue Toyota driven by Dr. Berkman, Mr. McIntosh said. The Toyota, Mr. McIntosh said, was followed into Bucks County, where the two suspects were arrested. The exact location was not disclosed.
In addition to the unlicensed revolvers carried by Dr. Berkman and Miss Duke, F.B.I. agents said, another revolver and a shotgun were in the car.
At a hearing in Federal District Court in Philadelphia yesterday, Dr. Berkman was held without bail as a

The people of the United States cannot be expected to know the nuances of the secret intelligence craft as the nature of the work is never advertized, and most successful operations remain secret. All the people find out is what the charge is if an arrest or indictment is made, plus the defense exhortation about the offender's plight. The media could do a public service if during a news report they explained just a little about the law and its purpose.

Although the U.S. economy is in fair health and jobs are there if you're qualified, and the major social issues are being addressed, the threat of terrorism still exists. Palestinian, Iranian, Libyan, and foreign nationals from all over the world flock to this nation, and not only to flee oppression of one sort or another, but to continue schooling, find livelihoods, and/or cause trouble of some nature when directed. Take for instance, the Palestinian Students Association and the Iranian Students Association. They had close ties to the Marxist Leninist May 19th Communist Organization, as well as the Maoist Progressive Labor Party and the Trotskyist Socialist Workers Party. At any time, the thousands of each of these foreign groups could cause havoc acting unilaterally, much less what they could do if they worked in concert with one of our domestic terrorist or violent-prone groups. The burden of handling these groups, along with dozens of other responsibilities, has been narrowed down to the woefully understaffed F.B.I. and the local police department, who with few exceptions, lack the resources to staff full-time intelligence investigators and the tools of the trade.

Not too long ago, internal security was investigated by a number of groups who collected this type information for use by their department in carrying out its' duties. Shouldn't a department or committee be informed by an internal security unit or subcommittee, that a particular witness or group, all neatly dressed and cooperative and apparently well informed, just might be a former bomb-thrower for MIRA or the Revolutionary Union, or a present member of a violent prone group known to use stink bombs or illegal "sit-ins" to gain an objective; or a new employee in a narcotics investigative unit just happened to have been arrested in another city as a street dealer or "mule", A.K.A. drug transporter; and further should this bomb thrower or street dealer have access to the reports that disclose the name of the undercover operative that uncovered him in the first place?

The Subversive Activities Control board was terminated by a President politically weakened before the expiration of his term. The House Committee on Internal Security, a "standing" sub-committee, was surreptitiously transferred from one committee to another committee with an anti-security majority, while the salaries of the H.C.I.S. staff came from a different committee payroll. The H.C.I.S. died in one year.

The Senate Internal Security Subcommittee was similarly transferred to the Senate Judiciary Committee led by a notorious anti-security Senator and it too ceased to exist within a short time. ²⁶

The internal-security unit of the Justice Department, and all other non-intelligence agencies were terminated as a result of the A.C.L.U.'s hamstringing "Political Surveillance Project."

N.Y. Eight reject rep

Say cop spying isn't justified

By DAVID J. KRAJICEK
Daily News Police Bureau Chief

"A life for a life!"
Viola Plummer, a leader of the black radical group the New York Eight, shouted the words into a microphone at Boys and Girls High School in Brooklyn in January, two weeks after Michael Griffith was killed in Howard Beach.

She punctuated the speech with her group's credo: "Freedom or Death!" Here and there in the crowd, black undercover cops stood and feigned cheers. They then left the rally, made notes about what they had seen and heard and turned them over to superiors in the police intelligence division, which carefully monitors the group.

In interviews with the Daily News, Plummer and other members of the New York Eight rejected their characterization by police as violent terrorists. The group has been at the center of black-spying allegations for two weeks, since Commissioner Benjamin Ward revealed that the New York Eight—but not black community leaders—were being watched by the intelligence division.

Disclaims terrorism

"I'm really not a terrorist," said Plummer, "and if I were, I would try to organize more than eight people to overthrow the U.S. government. Maybe 10."

"Patrick Henry said give me liberty or give me death," said group member Roger Wareham, referring to the credo. "Was he a terrorist?"

"We haven't engaged in any violent acts," he continued. "We haven't been convicted of any violent acts. The violence label has been thrown in by police to justify their surveillance of us."

Nonetheless, police take the group, and the rhetoric, quite seriously.

One need go back almost three years to understand why. On Oct. 18, 1984, 400 cops raided the homes of the New York Eight.

A source detailed what they found: two Uzi machine guns, one of them in a violin case; 8.75 pounds of dynamite, with blasting caps; five pistols, several with loaded spare clips taped to the grips; five sawed-off shotguns, two with pistol grips; three rifles, and thousands of rounds of ammunition.

Jailbreaks allegedly planned

Authorities said the New York Eight was planning jailbreaks for Sekou Odinga and Kuwasi Balagoon, convicted in the 1981 Brink's robbery in Nyack, N.Y., in which two cops and a guard were killed. Officials had tape recordings of the members during firearms training.

The members countered that the weapons were for protection from the government and that the heaviest artillery, including the dynamite, was planted by Howard Bonds, a former associate turned informant.

The eight—Plummer, Wareham, Coltrane Chimurenga, Robert Taylor, Omowale Clay, Ruth-Lateefah Carter,

The violence label has been thrown in by police to justify their surveillance of us.

Yvette Kelley and Colette Pagan—were acquitted on conspiracy charges and were sentenced to probation for weapons possessions. None has violated parole, authorities said.

The New York Eight grew out of a loose-knit "collective" formed in the 1970s to rally black power and protest police brutality, Plummer said. She said a key event in the early years was the 1973 killing by a cop of 10-year-old Clifford Glover in Jamaica, Queens. The incident prompted Plummer and her associates to form the Mobilization Committee Against Police Brutality, whose leaders would eventually be called the New York Eight.

The group eschews the traditional black leadership in the city and has recently aligned with a new breed of outspoken activists—lawyers C. Vernon Mason and Alton Maddox, ministers Al Sharpton, Calvin Butts and Herbert Daughtry and long-time Brooklyn activist Sonny Carson.

The names behind the number

Viola Plummer cut her activist eyeteeth with a Queens PTA.

"It started in 1960 at Public School 111 in Long Island City, when I enrolled my oldest daughter for the first time," Plummer said. "I joined the PTA and started screaming and fighting about local control for schools. I've never stopped screaming and fighting."

An avowed Marxist, Plummer, 49, lives in St. Albans, Queens, with her husband, James.

She has four children: Lisa, 31, of Connecticut; Robert, 30, of Queens, a fellow New York Eight member; Karen, 24, and Michelle, 22, both of Brooklyn.

She said she got involved in campus politics during the 1960s as a student at City College, where she earned a degree in English literature. In the following years, she became involved with a tight circle of associates who eventually were charged with weapons possession, and conspiring to rob banks and armored cars and free convicted cop killers from prison.

VIOLA PLUMMER, one of New York Eight, talks about her involvement in black causes.

The eight and others meet about once a month; police, crack and political brainstorming are the typical topics, members said. They record each meeting and videotape demonstrations and rallies sponsored by the group—a protection against future prosecution, Wareham said.

"Some meetings are about a particular brutality case that may be in the news, and some meetings are devoted to the development of what we would call a mass line," Plummer said. "What's the political line that has to be developed? What do we see as the fundamental contradictions for black people in this country? How do we communicate that to the black masses?"

The group, known as the New York Eight—a moniker the members hung on themselves during the trial—were convicted of the weapons charges but were acquitted of conspiracy. They were sentenced to probation.

The other members:

■ Coltrane Chimurenga, 43, formerly known as Randolph Simms. Tall, imposing graduate of San Francisco State University. Has credits for doctorate from Harvard University. With Plummer, considered leader of the group. Lives in Woodside, Queens, with his wife and two children. Works as part-time management consultant.

■ Robert Taylor, 30, Plummer's only son. Studied chemistry at the State University at Farmingdale, and graduated from New York City Technical College in Brooklyn. Recently laid off from job with an insurance company. Married, two children. Lives in Rochdale Village, Queens.

■ Roger Wareham, 38, witty and well-educated, Harvard and Columbia law school graduate. Center for Law and Social Justice, a legal advocacy office in Brooklyn affiliated with Medgar Evers College. Lives in Harlem with wife and two children.

■ Omowale Clay, formerly William Clay, 38. Unemployed, former project development coordinator with the city's Housing Preservation and Development Department. Described by Plummer as "the voice, the vision and the levity" of group. Degrees from University of Tennessee and Hunter College. Lives with wife and two children in St. Albans, Queens.

■ Ruth-Lateefah Carter, 42, of Brooklyn. Divorced with one daughter. Graduate of University of South Carolina. Worked 18 years as assistant sales manager with Bantam Books. Now volunteers at Center for Law and Social Justice.

■ Yvette Kelley, 34, Rutgers University law grad. Worked as paralegal in Newark public defender's office. Now works at an East Harlem law firm and a legal advocacy office in Brooklyn. Single; lives in Brooklyn.

■ Colette Pagan, 34, a former high school teacher. Youngest of group. Divorced, lives in Woodside, Queens.

And for this above reason and the "Freedom of Information Act", on Monday, October 20, 1981, James Wilson N.Y.C.P.D., a "uniformed" Police Officer rather than F.B.I. Agent Smith or Detective Wesson, Intelligence Division, was the United States' leading expert on the New York based May 19th Communist Organization and the May 19th Communist Coalition. The right person, at the right place, at the right time? Certainly! --- However, a sad commentary about America's internal defenses. As I see it, the damage is done. Soon the files on the May 19th Communist Organization will be closed as the courts dispose of the cases against all the individuals that can be prosecuted. They are underground again --- dormant --- waiting? --- planning? The only possible way to revitalize the U. S. governments internal security capabilities will come with the unlikely possibility that a newly elected "security conscious" President is swept into office with a "security conscious" Senate, and a "security conscious" House of Representatives and both "Judiciary" and both "Operations" Committees change Chairpersons to more security conscious individuals who can withstand the heat of the civil liberties lobbies and pressure groups. The odds of this happening is more than 100 to 1.
